APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, April 6, 1911.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Gentlemen:

I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed the following resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 430, File Folio 501, entitled:

"Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 430, File Folio No. 501, entitled 'An act to amend section three of an act approved the ninth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred fourteen), entitled "An act providing for the erection and construction by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the State of New Jersey of a bridge over the Delaware River, connecting the city of Philadelphia and the city of Camden and the approaches thereto; providing for a joint commission for that purpose and defining its powers and duties; providing for an independent commission in this Commonwealth in relation thereto and defining its powers and duties; providing for the payment of a part of the cost thereof by the city of Philadelphia, and providing for the acquiring, taking and condemnation of the real estate for the site and approaches thereof; providing for the turning over of said bridge upon its completion, and making an appropriation for the purposes of this act", be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment'.

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

WM. C. SPROUL.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 430, File Folio 501, entitled:

An Act to amend section three of an act approved the ninth day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred fourteen) entitled "An Act providing for the erection and construction by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the state of New Jersey of a bridge over the Delaware river connecting the city of Philadelphia and the city of Camden and the approaches thereto providing for a joint commission for that purpose and defining its powers and duties providing for an independent commission in this Commonwealth in relation thereto and defining its powers and duties providing for the payment of a part of the cost thereof by the city of Philadelphia and providing for the acquiring taking and condemnation of the real estate for the site and approaches thereof providing for the turning over of said bridge upon its completion and making an appropriation for the purpose of this act" was passed on final passage, be reconsidered.

Mr. Franklin. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. FRANKLIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend the title, line one, by striking out the word "section" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "section two and"

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which the House concurred in the aendment made by the Senate to House Bill No. 677, File Folio 2127, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and nine) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as amended be reconsidered.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

One the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, in the rush of business on these amendments, we probably did not give them the consideration they should have and, therefore, this motion to reconsider has been presented. The amendments of the Senate to House Bill No. 677 take out of this measure two words, "and private." The bill provides for the teaching of the English language in the schools of Pennsylvania and certain standard subjects. By the amendment of the Senate taking out these two words the provisions of the act are limited to public schools. You will readily see that the full force and effect of the measure is lost if the House concur in the amendment. I am advised that the Department of Education desires that the provisions of the act apply to both public and private schools and for this reason I ask you to support the motion.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, this is the bill, you may remember that was before the House some time ago to which a number of the members of this House, I have heard since objected as to the dictation of what a private school teacher should teach. At that time I objected to it and I have heard a number of people since the bill has passed who have said if they had to do it over again they would vote against the bill. I say we have no right to say to a private school teacher, man or woman, what he or she shall teach. When it comes to your public schools, that is all right, but you send your pupils to the private school teacher for a certain purpose. I send them there for a certain purpose and what right have we to regulate a man in his private business or a woman in her private business as to what he or she shall or shall not teach. I think the amendment made in the Senate is absolutely proper. I ask you to vote against the reconsideration of this bill.

Mr. DUNLAP. Mr. Speaker, I originally voted "no" on that bill, because I misunderstood it, but fortunately, I changed my vote. We have had a great deal of agitation about Americanization which cannot be effective until the elements of the English language are taught. As I understand it, this bill requires those who are instructors of private and public schools to teach the English language in order that the children may learn the language of our country and familiarize themselves with the elements of the language. I, therefore, take the stand that we should have this bill in its original from to include "private" as well as public schools.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to, and the amendment made by the Senate to House Bill No. 677 was not concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE RECALLED FROM GOVERNOR.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 199, as follows:

An Act to amend section one of an act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred seventy-three) entitled "An act to provide for retirement of State employes permanently disqualified by reason of physical or mental disability to perform their official functions and duties with half pay under certain conditions during the remainder of their lives except State employes whose retirement has been or shall be otherwise provided for and the filling of vacancies caused by such retirement" as amended by changing the conditions under which said employes can be retired and the procedure therein changing the pension period and defining the term "State employe" to include officers and employes in the legislative and executive branches of the State government and of State institutions

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of the act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred seventy-three) entitled "An act to provide for retirement of State employes permanently disqualified by reason of physical or mental disability to perform their official functions and duties with half pay under certain conditions during the remainder of their lives except State employes whose retirement has been or shall be otherwise provided for and the filling of vacancies caused by such retirement" which as amended by an act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred fifty-nine) entitled "An act to amend an act entitled 'An act to provide for retirement of State employes permanently disqualified by reason of physical or mental disability to perform their official functions and duties with half pay under certain conditions during the remainder of their lives except State employes whose retirement has been or shall be otherwise provided for and the filling of vacancies caused by such retirement' approved the fourteenth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and fifteen so as to extend the operation thereof to all employes in penitentiaries and other institutions operated by the Commonwealth as well as those more directly in the service thereof' " reads as follows

"Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That hereafter whenever the Governor is of opinion based upon satisfactory medical evidence that a State employe is by reason of physical or mental disability permanently incapacitated for performing his regular official duties except State employes whose retirement has been or shall be otherwise provided for he shall notify said employe of his opinion giving the reasons therefor and if the said employe shall resign within thirty days after such notice and shall have served in office as such a State employe for twenty-five years or more or who shall have reached the age of sixty-five years and shall have served in office as such a State employe for twenty years or more and shall hold himself in readiness to perform special duties in such ways as he may be reasonably able to do after his honorable retirement from office by resignation he shall receive during the remainder of his life or during the continuance of such disability or incapacity one-half of the salary which he would have received had he remained in active service The term 'State employe' as used in this act shall apply to all employes in penitentiaries reformatories and other institutions operated by the Commonwealth as well as those more directly in the service thereof" is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That hereafter whenever the Governor is of the opinion that a State employe is incapacitated for performing his regular official duties except State employes whose retirement has been or shall be otherwise provided for he shall notify said employe of his opinion and if the said employe shall resign within thirty days after such notice and shall have served in office as such a State employe for twenty-five years or more or who shall have reached the age of sixty-five years and shall have served in office as such a State employe for twenty years and shall hold himself in readiness to perform special duties in such ways as he may be reasonably able to do after his honorable retirement from office by resignation he shall receive during the remainder of his life or during the continuance of such disability or incapacity one-half of the salary which he would have received had he remained in active service The term "State employe" as used in this act shall mean all officers and employes of the executive and legislative branches of the State government including officers and employes of the Department of Public Instruction who at the time of retirement are not contributors to the State Teachers' Retirement Fund and entitled to retirement in accordance therewith The term shall also apply to all officers and employes in penitentiaries reformatories and other institutions operated by the Commonwealth

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1261, entitled:

An Act to amend sections two three and four of an act approved the third day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nine (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and ninety-five) entitled "An act regulating the sale of concentrated commercial feeding-stuffs also of condimental stock and poultry-food and patented proprietary or trade-mark stock and poultry-food possessing nutritive value combined with medicinal properties defining concentrated commercial feeding stuffs prohibiting the adulteration of any feeding-stuff sold offered or exposed for sale in this State with oat-hulls grounds corn cobs flax plany refuse elevator chaff cotton-seed hulls ground corn stalks rice hulls peanut hulls weed seeds or other similar adulterants providing for the collection of samples and analysis thereof by the Department of Agriculture and the publication of information concerning the same providing also for the expenses of the enforcement of the law fixing penalties for its violation and repealing act number two hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws one thousand nine hundred and seven page two hundred and seventy-three) entitled "An act regulating the sale of wheat rye corn and buckwheat bran and middlings or any admixture thereof' et cetera approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred and seven" by enlarging the scope of the term 'concentrated commercial feeding-stuffs" and providing for the collection of license fees for the sale thereof and by including certain other substances as adulterants

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend section 1, page 3, line 3, by striking out "expense" and inserting in lieu thereof "expenses"

Amend section 1, page 4, line 28, by striking out "mloasses" and inserting in lieu thereof "molasses"

Amend section 1, page 5, line 16, by striking out the first words "rice buckwheat" after "sorghum"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1032, entitled:

An Act to amend section four of an act approved the twentieth day of June one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and eighteen) entitled "'An act relating to the appointment of persons to the police department in cities of the third class providing for and regulating examinations the manner of appointments and the manner and power of removal of employees of said department and providing a method for fixing compensation'"

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 977, as follows:

An Act providing in certain cases for the election of tax collectors in boroughs and in certain cases for the appointment of secretaries of boroughs as tax collectors and providing the manner in which and the method by which such appointment is to be made and the compensation of the appointed tax collector fixed and authorizing such tax collectors to collect county borough school and poor taxes

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the qualified voters of every borough in which the secretary of the borough has not been designated as the tax collector in the manner hereinafter provided shall at the municipal election in the year one thousand nine hundred twenty-one and every four years thereafter elect one properly qualified person for tax collector who shall serve for a term of four years from the first Monday of January next following such election

Section 2 The council of any borough may signify its intention by ordinance or resolution to appoint the secretary of the borough as tax collector and may in such ordinance or resolution appoint the secretary as tax collector but any such ordinance or resolution shall not be effective in any borough unless the same shall be approved by a majority of the electors of the borough voting at an election held for such purposes

Section 3 The question whether or not any such ordinance or resolution shall be effective in any borough may be submitted to the electors at any general municipal or special election in the manner provided by the general election laws and shall be printed upon the ballot in the form provided by the general election law of the Commonwealth for the submission of similar questions

Section 4 The ordinance or resolution providing for the appointment of the secretary of the borough as tax collector shall fix the time when the term of said secretary as tax collector shall commence and such term shall be so fixed as to become effective upon the expiration of the term of any elected tax collector then in office

Section 5 Any ordinance or resolution providing for the appointment of the secretary of the borough as tax collector shall be submitted to the electors of the borough at such time that in case of its adoption by the electors no nominations for the office of tax collector in the particular borough shall be made or election for said office held to fill the place of any tax collector whose term is about to expire

Section 6 All tax collectors of the several boroughs elected or appointed under the provisions of this act shall be collectors of county borough school and poor taxes levied and collected within the respective boroughs In all cases where the secretary of the borough is appointed as tax collector the ordinance providing for his appointment shall fix his salary for the collection of all county borough school and poor taxes and all commissions to which he is entitled for the collection of county borough school and poor taxes shall be by him paid into the borough treasury

The salary of the secretary acting as tax collector shall in no case exceed the fees to which the elected tax collector is entitled by law for the collection of such taxes and the amount of moneys paid into the borough treasury for the use of the borough received from fees for the collection of county school and poor taxes shall in no case exceed the amount of the salary paid to such tax collector by the borough and any excess over such amount shall be paid by the borough to the county or the school or the poor district The amount so paid into the borough treasury for the use of the borough and the amount returned to the several districts shall be pro rated according to the total amount of the duplicates of the respective districts All elected tax collectors shall be entitled to the commissions now or hereafter provided by law for the collection of such taxes

Section 7 All tax collectors elected or appointed under the provisions of this act shall give bond in such amount and subject to such approval as is now provided by law and such collectors shall have all the rights and possess all the powers perform all the duties and be subject to all the restrictions and penalties now provided for by law for tax collectors in the several boroughs of this Commonwealth

Section 8 The act approved the sixth day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three (Pamphlet Laws three hundred thirty-three) entitled "An act to authorize the election of tax collectors for the term of three years in the several boroughs and townships of this Commonwealth" is hereby repealed so far as the same relates to boroughs

All other general acts or parts thereof inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate someone with reference to this bill.

The SPEAKER. Is there any member of the House who will permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I will, sir.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, if he will not explain what changes are made in the election law by this bill.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, the only change that is made by this bill is contained on page 2, file folio No. 2314. Under the existing law immediately after an election the ballot boxes are required to be sent to the county seat to the office of the county commissioner. In the country districts sometimes that becomes very annoying, either on account of bad conditions of the roads or otherwise. This bill would give the courts the right to designate other places where the ballot boxes may be sent and to be kept there until the time when the votes are to be counted which is Tuesday following the election. I think it is a very good bill.

Mr. EDMONDS. That is the only change?

Mr. GLASS. That is the only change.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—3.

Armstrong,	Hoffman, M. R.,	Horne,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed it with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1054, entitled:

An Act to amend article nine of an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and nine) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as amended creating a State Council of Education defining its powers and duties and transferring thereto the powers and duties now vested in the State Board of Education

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. FITZGIBBON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 204.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 204, file folio No. 3935, entitled

An Act to regulate the practice of professional engineering and land surveying, creating a State Board for Registration of Professional Engineers and Land Surveyors, defining its powers and duties, imposing certain duties upon the Commonwealth and political sub-divisions thereof in connection with public work, and providing penalties.

passed third reading, be reconsidered.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the amendments made to this bill be rescinded.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker; may I ask the sponsor of this bill to give us a brief explanation of what it involves. I understand there has been controversy among the engineers as to this license proposition.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the interrogation of the gentleman from Philadelphia, the bill was introduced at the request of a number of civil engineers and land surveyors, who desire to be recognized legally in the same way the medical profession is recognized and the legal profession and the clergy. We have had several hearings before the Committee on Ways and Means, public hearings, and engineers appeared. Some of them condemned the original bill, and others approved of it. Then both sides as I understand it got together and submitted certain amendments. The amendments have been added and made a part of the bill now before the House. It seems that the engineers feel that their profession or business would be better cared for if they were recognized legally and made a profession. Furthermore, I am advised that this bill raises revenue for the Commonwealth and that the board created under it will be self sustaining and that there will be rather a handsome balance left to go into the State Treasury.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. DITHRICH asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up from page 16 of today's calendar, bill on final passage postponed, House Bill No. 1198.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. DITHRICH.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1198, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the eighth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred sixty-four), entitled "An act authorizing suits brought to recover in case of accidents in this Commonwealth in courts of common pleas to be certified to the Workmen's Compensation Board when discovered that the suit has been brought wrongfully," extending the provisions of said act to suits brought after the passage of the act.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title last line by striking out the words "the act" and insert in lieu thereof "said act and prior to the passage of this amendment"

Amend section 1, page 2, line 21 by inserting after the word "whenever" the words "before the passage of this amendment"

Amend section 2 page 3 line 13 by inserting after the word "brought" the following: "before the passage of this amendment"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1201, entitled:

An Act relating to motor vehicles and requiring the owner of any motor vehicle to be insured against liability for damages for injuries in person or property sustained through the negligent or illegal operation thereof in this Commonwealth.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, who is the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Glass, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GLASS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Will the gentleman kindly explain the purposes of the bill?

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, the purpose of this bill to protect the innocent pedestrian or traveller on the highways of the city or any part of the State in case of injury at the hands of a reckless or negligent driver of an automobile. This bill provides that the owner of an automobile shall be insured against injury to any person or to any property by the negligent or illegal operation of a motor vehicle. That is all the bill provides and that is all that it is intended to do.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman, and ask him if the effect of this bill is that every owner of an automobile, before he can have a license issued to him, must submit to the highway commissioner affidavits that he has taken out a liability insurance policy?

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, that is contained in section five of the act, which provides that

"No owner's application for the registration of any such motor vehicle shall be received or be receivable by the State Highway Department of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania unless it is either (a) accompanied by a certificate by such insurance company or insurance association that a policy of insurance complying with the provision of this act has been issued by it to the said owner or supported by an affidavit by the said owner that a policy complying with the provisions of this act is in course of being issued by such insurance company or insurance association and followed by the filing of a certificate by such insurance company or insurance association."

The language, Mr. Speaker, I think is very clear. The owner of an automobile is required to take out liability insurance, and if he doesn't have a certificate, if he makes affidavit that he has taken out insurance or is about to do it, that is all that is required.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman to kindly explain to the House about what a policy would cost.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I do not own an automobile, and therefore I do not know what a policy would cost. Those of you who own automobiles and carry liability insurance know what it costs.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, a bill very similar to this one was introduced some weeks ago, and referred to the Committee on Public Roads. A hearing was given to the sponsor of that bill and the bill then was carefully considered by the committee, and by a unanimous vote was indefinitely postponed. The belief was that the bill did not have sufficient merit to warrant the committee to report it out to this House. Subsequently the bill under consideration was introduced and referred to the committee of which the sponsor of the bill is chairman, and it was immediately reported out. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me when we consider the increase in cost to the owners of automobiles by the bill we passed, placing a tax of one cent a gallon on gasoline, with a suggested increase in the license cost to owners of motor trucks, to add to this expense the cost of a liability insurance policy, which would run anywhere from twenty-five dollars up, would be burdensome, and the bill should be defeated.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, the average person who owns an automobile takes out indemnity insurance. I am informed that the policy costs in the neighborhood of seventy-dollars and this is for the purpose of protecting the individual who may be run down, injured or maimed. Do you think it is fair to let men run automobiles and run people down on the highways, injuring them and probably maiming them for life or killing them, without that individual having some redress, without being compensated for his injuries, loss of earning power or for the medical attention that he is obliged to have by reason of the injury? This bill will only affect those men who run recklessly on the street and who don't want to take out insurance. But the responsible man is the man who takes out indemnity insurance, and I do not think he would be hurt by the passage of this bill. I therefore ask the gentlemen of the House to vote for this bill.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia has just said that this bill would only affect those who operate an automobile and who run over persons, causing injury. Why, this bill will affect everyone who asks for a license, no matter whether you ever have an accident or drive over anyone. You cannot get a license until you apply for indemnity insurance, under this bill. It affects everyone who drives an automobile to the extent of about seventy dollars, and it does not make any difference how much property you have or how much you are worth that would secure any one you might happen to injury. Under this bill you will have to have that expense and I certainly do not think we ought to pass a bill which would create such a tremendous boost in the writing of insurance that will be involved in the five thousand dollar insurance policy for every automobile license issued in this Commonwealth, when at least ninety-eight per cent. of the men who drive automobiles and who apply for licenses have plenty of property to protect him against accident without any additional expense. In other words, it simply means that you are penalizing ninety-eight per cent. of those who apply for automobile licenses in order to cover the remaining two per cent.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Hess, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HESS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask if the gentleman from Lancaster owns an automobile?

Mr. HESS. Yes sir.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Do you have indemnity insurance?

Mr. HESS. I do not.

Mr. ALEXANDER. You do not?

Mr. HESS. I do not.

Mr. ALEXANDER. However, you are responsible for any damages you might do to anyone?

Mr. HESS. I am, sir.

Mr. ALEXANDER. What percentage do you suppose of the responsible owners of automobiles do not take out indemnity insurance?

Mr. HESS. I doubt if five per cent. take out indemnity insurance. I do not know, however, I have no figures. I doubt if five per cent. of the owners and drivers of automobiles take out indemnity insurance.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I am very much surprised that the gentleman from Lancaster, being the business man he is, does not take out indemnity insurance. When he says that only five per cent. of the responsible owners of automobiles take insurance, I think he is far from being correct. My experience has been that the responsible driver of automobiles indemnifies himself against that hazardous risk of hurting or injuring somebody or their property, and therefore becomes indemnified in some insurance company. But the driver of an automobile, with his "ten dollar lizzie", who doesn't own the clothes on his back, who goes up the road at a haphazard rate and runs over everything and everybody in sight, takes out no insurance at all. I have a case at the present time where a child was run over and its leg was broken by an irresponsible driver from whom you couldn't get a ten dollar bill if you tried. As I understand it, it is simply for the purpose of putting the person in a position where they will be compensated if injured, and I think Mr. Hess is far from correct when he says that a very small percentage of the responsible automobile owners takes out insurance. As a general thing, the business man is a responsible man and a man who if he runs over somebody or somebody's property has protected himself by taking out insurance and this bill is not aimed at that man. I try to be careful in driving an automobile, but I would not be twenty-four hours without indemnity insurance at the present time.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, the automobile licenses in the State of Pennsylvania each year amount to upwards of $8,000,000. That would be on an average of $12 for each car. On the statement of the gentleman from Philadelphia that the license would run around $70 just make a mental calculation as to what it would mean in premiums to insurance companies of the State of Pennsylvania at $70 each for 600,000 cars.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Tioga.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Tioga permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman not think that it is nothing more than right that a child who is run over on the highways by an irresponsible person, if that child loses a limb, that it should be compensated for the loss of that limb?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Cases of that kind are very, very rare.

Mr. GLASS. They are numerous.

Mr. WILLIAMS. As the gentleman from Lancaster has said, is it well to penalize ninety-eight per cent. of the automobile owners of the State because of the carelessness of two per cent. who cannot be punished for any crimes of that character.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker. I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Tioga.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Tioga permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Yes, sir.

Mr. GLASS. Does the gentleman from Tioga desire to make the members of this House believe that only two per cent. of those who use motor vehicles carry indemnity insurance?

Mr. WILLIAMS. That I cannot say; I have not taken up the figures.

Mr. GLASS. Would the gentleman say that it is not true that about eighty per cent. of those who own motor vehicles carry insurance?

Mr. WILLIAMS. No, sir, I would not be sure of that.

Mr. J. O. CRAIG. Mr. Speaker, I have made a little inquiry through the last week with a large insurance firm and they told me that between ten to fifteen per cent. of the owners of automobiles carried indemnity insurance. In our country it will be quite a hardship throughout the rural districts for them to have this indemnity insurance to pay. I will just ask this body of men to vote against this bill for the benefit of the country people, at least.

Mr. DILSHEIMER. Mr. Speaker, about five years I met with an accident in front of the city hall in Philadelphia. Through the negligence of a chauffeur of a car I was run down. I was in bed for two weeks. After that my attorney wrote to the owner of the car and we found that he was not responsible and that he had no insurance, whatever. I lost two weeks time in my business and I also had a suit of clothes and an overcoat ruined. I think the public ought to be protected under all conditions. Gentlemen of the House, I believe this is a fair and just bill to protect everybody and I ask you to vote for it.

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker, as a member of the Allegheny bar, may I say to you that I do not represent any insurance company. We have here to-night an ex-member of this House, who was a member for two sessions, Mr. Merkle, who is in the insurance business. He tells me that about fifty per cent. of the drivers of automobiles carry insurance. However, if it is true that only ten per cent. carry indemnity insurance, then I say to you men this bill ought to pass. You take a man that runs an automobile, in many cases, and every cent he has in the world is in that automobile, and it is worth probably $500. He runs down a child; where will you get your compensation? Take it right into your own conscience. He hits and what happens? I say to you men, we are not endeavoring to help the insurance companies; we are protecting the life of every human being on the public streets. There is no question about it. Let that ooze through your system for three minutes. I do not see why your conscience would not tell you that the public should be protected? I say to you, further, that there are enough crazy drivers on the streets running automobiles to-day and that if they were carrying accident insurance they would be more careful about driving their machines; they don't care whether they hit you or not. I say to you men here that this bill ought to go through. It is true there was another bill in committee saying that when you were financially responsible you filed your certificate with the board and you did not need to contract for any insurance. I think that was a better bill this this, but that was killed in committee. Suppose it does cost seventy dollars to carry indemnity insurance; is it not better than to have persons carelessly run down without being able to come back on that insurance company. It is not that driver who will suffer; it is the insurance company, and if an insurance company will take that risk for seventy dollars, have them do it. Would you take it? I put it up to any member of this House. Would you take out insurance for sixty or seventy dollars a year on four-fifths of them men you know who are driving automobiles? Would you do it? I know I would not. I say to you men, use your good common sense on this bill and do not think about the insurance company.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I believe that it would be a serious mistake for us to pass this kind of legislation. It is true the State does get that much revenue from the automobile owner. To my mind it is legislation which should not pass here. First, because an owner of an automobile in driving is not responsible if any one is injured. It seems to me that it would be putting a premium on death to pass this bill and a man would in a measure be relieved of responsibility. I would be very sorry to see this kind of a bill pass.

Mr. DITHRICH. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following members: Messrs. Whitaker, Dunn, Haws, Baldi, Pike, J. C. Marcus, Frank Brown, Golder, H. Smith, Conner, Glass, Love, Goehring, Green, Feldman, Franklin, Gibbon, Goss, Heffernan and Krause.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question,

On the question,

Shall the main question be put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1191, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and thirty-five) entitled "An act to authorize the courts of common pleas of any county when an individual church within the county has become inactive or extinct by reason of there being no resident or active trustees representing it or otherwise and the property of the church is liable to be wasted or destroyed to appoint the trustees of the State body or organization representative of the denomination of which said church was a member as trustees for said church to hold and dispose of the title to the property owned by said church and defining the procedure thereon" authorizing the said courts to appoint as trustees for such church the trustees of the superior judicatory with which the church has been connected when the terrritory covered by the said judicatory is within the State

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk then read the amendments as follows:

Amend page 3, line 1, by striking out "of" after "petition" and inserting in lieu there of "to"

Amend page 4, line 3, by inserting the word "the" before "State"

Amend page 4, line 7, by striking out the word "of" after the word "petition" and inserting in lieu thereof "to"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Mr. HARDING. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time from page 15 of to-day's calendar, bills on third reading postponed, House Bill No. 767,

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Harding,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 767, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand six hundred and one of an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and nine) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith"

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call at this time from page 15 of to-day's calendar, bill on third reading postponed, House Bill No. 1004.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. James A. Walker,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1004, entitled:

An Act to amend section nine clause (b) of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and nine) entitled "An Act relating to the organization maintenance and operation of the Banking Department and the scope of its supervision and control over corporations partnersihps unincorporated associations and individuals and the assets and liabilities thereof providing penalties for the enforcement of its provisions and repealing certain acts" by increasing the maximum and minimum fee for the examination of building and loan associations.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, you have probably received some communication from the Building Association League of Pennsylvania protesting against the passage of this act. Therefore, I feel it but fair to give you the history of this bill.

This bill was prepared by the Banking Commissioner of this Commonwealth. It follows the present law passed during the last session. Under thhe act of 1919, the Banking Commissioner has the right to make a charge of five dollars on every one hundred thousand dollars of paid in capital with a minimum of ten dollars for the examination of building and loan associations in this State. Under the law of 1895, building and loan associations were to be examined by the Commisisoner. Up until 1919 it was impossible because of the small number of examiners to strictly comply with the requirements of the law. In 1919 the Legislature made with the exception of building and loan associations the entire department self-supporting. That portion of the act which refers to the examination of building and loan societies was made partially supporting. If this bill passes it will save the Appropriations Committee the necessity of appropriating about forty-four thousand dollars to that department.

The purpose of the bill is not to raise revenue for that department merely for the payment of salaries. It is for the purpose of adding seven new examiners to that department so that instead of having thirteen examiners to examine all the banking institutions of the State, they will have twenty. They feel that with that increase they will be able to examine annually all the building and loan associations and give to the State as well as to their stockholders a complete statement of the assets and liabilities in each association. Ordinarily we would be alarmed when it comes to charging building and loan associations for we all know the good they have done to the State. This bill increases the charge of five dollars per one hundred thousand dollars of capital stock paid in to ten dollars per one hundred thousand dollars with a minimum of fifteen dollars. Now that is an increase to the stockholders or to the association of one two-hundredths of one per cent. That is all it means to any association, one two-hundredth of one per cent. The protest which you received two weeks ago says that it is a tax. That is absolutely incorrect. It is not a tax. It is no more of a tax than the bonus on capital stock which the Supreme Court of this State said was not a tax. This article that you received says, that building and loan associations have not been taxed and never were taxed until the passage of the Act of 1919. Granting for the purpose of argument that that statement is true I wish to show you the incorrectness of that statement. Away back in 1897, the Legislature passed an act approved on the 22nd day of June, providing "that building and loan association stock which is fully or partly matured shall be taxed to an amount equal to that required to be paid upon money at interest under the general tax laws of this Commonwealth."

Now there has been a tax law on building and loan associations from 1897 to the present time and yet two lawyers have signed that statement that there is no taxation on building and loan associations. I say since 1897 we have had the tax. In further correction of the error which the writers have made we find by the list which we have received of the receipts in the Auditor General's office that in the year 1919 the Auditor General received from building and loan association stock thirty thousand three hundred and twenty-five dollars and forty-four cents, and last year thirty-four thousand eight hundred and seventy nine dollars and four cents. So that it is quite evident that the statement made to you over the hands of the Building and Loan Association League that they are in error.

But there is one other thing that I wish to call to your attention. The Building and Loan Association League of Pennsylvania is composed of eight hundred societies. Only ninety-six of the eight hundred voted on this proposition which they write about and of ninety-six, all were not in accord, it was a majority which did agree. There are approximately twenty-nine hundred associations in this State and I understand that of the twenty-nine hundred associations, only the building and loan associations with ninety-six societies oppose this measure. This measure as I said in the beginning helps to create in the building and bureau of the Banking Department a chance to examine more thoroughly the assets and liabilities of everyone of these associations. The cost of so doing is an increase of one two-hundredths of one per cent., and I do not think any man in this House who believes in the examination of building and loan associations, so that the stockholders may know their true condition can conscientiously vote against a measure which has been given the thorough consideration of the Banking Department when it is for the purpose of getting more examiners to conduct the work properly.

Mr. BLUETT. Mr. Speaker, the building and loan associations have enjoyed in this State and in the United States, for some time, certain privileges They have been exempt from all kinds of taxation. This has been done very largely by reason of the fact that building associations have been regarded as mutual beneficial and saving associations for the benefit of its own people. Consequently, no taxes have ever been imposed upon building associations, neither by the State of Pennsylvania nor by the United States Government. My friend from Philadelphia tells you that in 1917 the Legislature passed an act which imposed a tax on the stock of building associations. My friend first called my attention to that sometime ago and I looked it up and found that it doesn't do any such thing; it only imposes a tax where the building association has matured stock, fully paid, which is a sort of loan, and of course upon such matured stock as that, which it is carrying as a loan, there is a tax to be paid to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. But the great majority of stock in the building association is that which arises by the periodical payment every month by the stockholders, and it not regarded in the nature of stock to be taxed, but is exempt from such taxation by the State of Pennsylvania and the United States Government. Now, then, in 1919, when this tax was first imposed upon building associations. I mean the charge for the examination of the books of the building association, the Building Association League and the building association generally throughout the State of Pennsylvania objected to the imposition of such a tax, and they were told at the hearing at that time that this would only be to help to defray the cost of examination and that no other tax would be imposed upon them. At that time they expressed the fear that this would be a starting along the line of taxing building associations, but nevertheless they submitted to a tax or a minimum charge of ten dollars, with a further charge of ten dollars for every hundred thousand. Now, at the very next session of the Legislature, for the purpose of raising revenue or something or other, they come again and double the charge which has already been made upon building associations. I suppose at the next session of the Legislature they will be doing the same thing until before long a real tax will be imposed upon these beneficial associations, for the benefit of our citizens. Mr. Speaker, I want to say further that my colleague and friend from Philadelphia, Mr. Walker, has not given fair consideration to the Building Association League of the State of Pennsylvania. On March 23, 1921, nearly a month ago, the counsel of the Building Association League wrote to the chairman of the banking committee, to which this measure had been referred, and to another member of that committee, asking for a public hearing. No such public hearing was accorded them. A week or so ago, when this bill first appeared on the calendar, I consulted with the chairman of the banking committee, and asked him if he would not grant a public hearing or a hearing of some kind to the League of Building Associations. I was informed that it was not necessary, that this would pass anyway, so that I submit that the Building Association League has not been fairly dealt with in this matter. At the meeting of the Building Association League, at which this bill was considered, there were present, as I understand it, ninety-six members, or ninety-six men, but these ninety-six men represented a great many of the associations, or perhaps the majority of the associations in the State of Pennsylvania. I know of nobody who has more interst in building associations than the Building Association League of Pennsylvania, which has at heart the interest of the building associations because they regard them as the savings deposits of the poor people of our Commonwealth, I ask you, therefore, to defeat this measure.

Mr. SMINK. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to take up a great deal of your time in going over the situation that has existed in the city of Philadelphia, and in a great many other communities throughout this great Commonwealth during the past year and a half, because of the terrible conditions existing in the housing situation. I am familiar, however, with building and loan associations in my district and in the surrounding territory in the Southern section of Philadelphia. While I believe, and while I am a member of the board of directors of two different building and loan associations, that they are the best thing that has been originated for the so-called working man, at the same time they have been taken advantage of by certain speculative elements, and if it had not been for the Banking Commisisoner of the State of Pennsylvania in wanting to Philadelphia certain examinations, the suffering would have been fifty per cent. greater in Philadelphia than what it really was. We had associations in Philadelphia organized for the specific purpose of speculation. They purchased houses on the so-called plan of the "shoe-string." As a concrete example, I want to call your attention to a row of houses in South Philadelphia that sold for $1,925, carrying a first trust company mortgage of $1,000. Several building and loan associations of legitimate character were applied to for an additional loan of from six to eight hundred dollars, which they turned down. These speculators then went to their own building and loan association which they controlled, and they secured a second mortgage of $1,000, making the property selling at $1,925 mortgage to the extend of $2,000, or seventy-five dollars above the purchase price. When the attention of the Banking Commissioner of the State of Pennsylvania was called to this, he immediately got in touch and sent his examiners there and the mortgagee was forced to place three hundred dollars collateral against these mortgages to protect the other holders, and he told me at that time that the Banking Department did not have sufficient examiners by which to make a real examination of the other building and loan associations in the State of Pennsylvania. I plead with you gentlemen in the interest of the legitimate shareholders, in the interest of the shareholders who have been gotten into the speculative loan associations and tax them a little bit more and give us sufficient banking examiners to go in where speculative buildings associations have grown up in the centers of population and let the banking commissioner have proper control over them. I believe, Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House that this thing should be met fairly and squarely and that we should put into the hands of the banking commissioner a sufficient amount of money to provide for his examiners. I don't know of any other people who should be more willing and more ready to accept this additional taxation than the shareholders of the building and loan associations, for I know of no investment that is any safer in legitimate bodies or that will give you any better means of investment than the building and loan associations. As a shareholder, to some extent, and as a director of a building and loan association I ask you to support this bill.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, there has been as much splendid oratory that a number of the members in this section of the House have been somewhat lost in this matter. I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill on one point.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Walker, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

MR. HESS IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of this bill is it not possible to reduce the change in this bill to only a few words, which is simply, raising the mimimum of the fee for examination under the present law from ten to fifteen dollars. So far as the rest of the law is concerned, it is a statute law at the present time and we do not need any particular oratory in regard to taxes or building and loan associations to take up our time, as it is simply raising the anti-five dollars for the State banking examiners to make the examinations of the building and loan associations?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1209, entitled:

An Act providing for the better management of the jails or county prisons in the several counties of this Commonwealth, of the third and fourth classes, by creating in such counties a board, to be known by the name and style of inspectors of the jail or county prison, with authority to appoint a warden of such prison, and by vesting in said board and the officers appointed by it the safekeeping, discipline and employment of prisoners, and the government and management of said jails or county prisons.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WHITMAN. Mr. Speaker, by this bill it is designed to extend to third class counties a method of administering county prisons now in vogue in fourth class counties. As a fourth class county Westmoreland has adopted this method which is eminently satisfactory, but by reason of the advancement of the classification of the counties it finds itself without local authority whereby to continue the method. The bill is not to be confused with a bill introduced earlier in the session from another third class county. That bill would have eliminated the board from control and also would have employed a salary roll of $2,500 per annum. This bill continues doing the work of the members of the board of control and carries with it no salary whatever. On account of these reasons we would ask the members of the House to vote for this bill.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1090, entitled:

An Act authorizing the appointment of interpreters in counties of the third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes of this Commonwealth and providing for their compensation

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DAVID J. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend page 1, line 14 by striking out "For the days actually' and inserting "or more than $10.00 per day for each day actually present in Court and employed under the direction of the Court."

On page 2, line 1, strike out "Present in Court."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1031, entitled:

An Act empowering cities of the third class to contract with certain incorporated associations to use and occupy public parks and playgrounds subject to regulations prescribed by said cities

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House. I have a great deal of humility in speaking on the subject of third class cities, but this bill has in it some provisions that are so peculiar that in my estimation the attention of the House ought to be directed to it. It authorizes cities of the third class to make contracts and agreements with any agents or corporations for the leasing of playgrounds owned and occupied by said cities. Some cities might sign a lease of a public playground for the use of an organization and the lease might be on such terms as would be of profit to the city, but as a matter of policy when authorizing a municipality to lease its property to a private corporation for a public playground or for private occupation there should be some limit as to the time for which the lease shall run. There should be a limit to that lease and it should not hold for a longer period of time than four years. We can see what would happen if there was a playground leased in a city for a period of fifty years and in its growth that city would be hampered continually by this long lease. I know our experience in the city of Philadelphia how much citizens regretted those long leases which have been given to private corporations. Now, of course, a third class city is not yet a first class city, but there is always a chance for development and growth, in time, and it is a good thing to limit the period of the lease in order that the city growing may get the benefit of such an arrangement. I shall feel obliged to vote against the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1190, entitled:

An Act makng a burial permit issued at the place of death valid throughout the Commonwealth

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Columbia, Mr. Shaffer, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHAFFER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Columbia what the purpose of this bill is.

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, in answer to gentleman from Delaware, I would say that the bill is short and can be easily understood. It is for the transportation of bodies from one section of the State to another with a burial permit without being taxed additionally in going through any other borough. There are a number of boroughs in the State of Pennsylvania where they assess one dollar by the board of health, and we want to eliminate that. The public health department recommends this bill.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman. What protection has the borough or the township where these bodies are buried so far as the health permits are concerned and so far as the protection of the public health is concerned?

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, the preservation of the bodies is the protection of health, in going through any borough or part of the State.

Mr. ALEXANDER. This is the annual burial permit bill that we get here every session. Delaware County at the present time as some of you know has in it eleven cemeteries. The wear and tear on the public roads in that county is tremendous. For instance just outside the city of Philadelphia we have the Fernwood Cemetery, the Holy Cross Cemetery, there are two other large cemeteries, in fact as large cemeteries as there are in that sction surrounding Philadelphia. I at one time represented the township of Upper Darby, the township in which my colleague, Mr. Miller, lives at the present time, and the wear and tear on the roads some years ago when the funerals were conducted by means of a hearse and horses was tremendous. There was a mile of road there that cost that township four thousand dollars a year. That has been multiplied at this time many times. Now you must remember as far as these townships are concerned, and these boroughs are concerned that they get no tax whatever from the cemeteries, none whatever to help pay for the wear and tear on these roads.

Another thing and it is another very important thing, more important even that that. At the present time just as Mr. Shaffer says, the boroughs and townships have their boards of health and they have a right to protect their citizens against bringing into these districts bodies having a disease that may be communicable. They have a right to know when a body is being buried in the township. Again there are times when the supervision of the township or the borough is not strict about the burial, and many times they are not buried according to law. For instance some years ago in Upper Darby just near the Lennox some of us went out one day what is know as Landsowne Avenue. There was a great stench there and in going through the cemetery we found that there were bodies buried in boxes, five and six in a box, and within a foot or two of the surface of the ground. Dogs had dug them out and buzzards were eating them. We had to pass an ordinance in Upper Darby at that time that the burial should be in a certain condition and in a certain way. What protection has the township or the borough against burials of that kind unless they are allowed to require a permit? Those townships and those boroughs must have restrictions, and especially as I say those which surround so closely the cities of Philadelphia or Pittsburgh or some other cities. They must have this protection in order to protect the health of that community. Now what do they charge for that permit which Mr. Shaffer speaks about? The charge which they pay Upper Darby and Hanover Township in Delaware County is one dollar per head. The man himself on whom that charge is made never makes a kick. He never complains about that. The only man that complains is the undertaker. It will not hurt the undertaker to pay that dollar extra, and see what protection it is to the counties where these cemeteries are located. I ask you gentlemen for the protection of these counties, for the protection of the health of these communities where these bodies are buried to vote against this bill.

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, the Borough of Yeadon, outside of Philadelphia, collects annually between five and six thousand dollars from the funerals that pass through that borough. If in transporting a body from one county to another you must go through half a dozen boroughs, you will be obliged to stop in each borough that they have the same law that Yeadon Borough has six times on your way to the funeral and pay a dollar to each borough. The purpose of this bill is to eliminate that. In the transportation of bodies from one county to another with a burial permit from the register of the State that body should be allowed to be transported to where it may go without being molested. Therefore, it is a meritorious bill and I ask you to support it.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, it is very important I tell you to the counties alongside those large cities, and I just want to answer the gentleman because he has misled you. There is no law on the statute books that will permit any county or any borough to charge for any permit unless a burial is made in that borough or in that township, and therefore there are only two permits, the permit that is required where the person dies, and the permit where he is buried, and no law on the statute books today will permit any other charge except these two.

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, under the act of 1917, under that portion which is amended, when a person dies you can get a burial permit, and you are allowed to take that body to its destination with the same permit and bury the body.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

REMARKS BY HON. CYRUS PALMER.

Mr. BALDI. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Hon. Cyrus Palmer, former member of the House of Representatives, be requested to address the House.

Mr. PIKE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

HON. CYRUS. PALMER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, this is something I never expected to do again, but inasmuch as the occasion presents itself, it would be a peculiar sort of person who would deny himself the great privilege. I wish you all luck, and I hope you have as good a time as I had.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1253, as follows:

An Act to provide for the care training and maintenance of certain children by the several counties authorizing the county commissioners to establish and maintain separate or joint county industrial homes for such purposes requiring poor authorities to place children of certain ages with families or in institutions providing for the care and maintenance of certain children in such homes at the expense of the parents and prohibiting the receiving and detaining of children in almshouses and poor houses and validating similar acts heretofore performed by the commissioners of the several counties

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That it shall be lawful for the county commissioners of any county or for the county commissioners of two or more counties acting together to establish and maintain an industrial home for the care and training of children Such institution or home shall be remote from any almshouse or poor house and entirely disconnected from the same and shall be under the management of the county commissioners

Section 2 It shall be unlawful for the overseers or guardians or directors of the poor in the several counties cities boroughs and townships of this Commonwealth to receive into or retain in any almshouse or poor house any child between two and sixteen years of age for a longer period than sixty days unless such child shall be an unteachable idiot an epileptic or a paralytic or otherwise so disabled or deformed as to render it incapable of labor or service

Section 3 It shall be the duty of said overseers guardians directors of the poor or other persons having charge of the poor to place all dependent children who are in or committed to their charge and who are over two years of age (with the exceptions named in the second section of this act) in some respectable family in this State or in some educational institution or home for children and one of said officers shall visit such children in person or by agent not less than once every six months and make all needful inquiries as to their treatment and welfare and shall report thereon to the board of overseers or other officers charged with the care of such children

Whenever the parents of any children between the ages of two and sixteen years are unable to give them proper personal care and attention but are willing and able to pay for such cares attention and maintenance the county commissioners of the respective counties may enter into an agreement with the parent or parents of such child or children for their care and maintenance in such county industrial home at the expense of such parent or parents

Section 4 All acts and contracts heretofore performed and executed by or on behalf of any county by its county commissioners by virtue or authority of the act entitled "An act to prohibit the receiving and detaining of children in almshouses and poor houses and to provide for the care and education of such children" approved the thirteenth day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three (Pamphlet Laws one hundred and eleven) are hereby declared to be as valid and effectual in law as if performed and executed under and by virtue of this act after the date of its passage

Section 5 The act entitled "An act to prohibit the receiving and detaining of children in almshouses and poor houses and to provide for the care and education of such children" approved the thirteenth day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three (Pamphlet Laws one hundred and eleven) is hereby repealed

All other acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. McCURDY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1096, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one, two and three, article seven, chapter six of an act approved the fourteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (P. L. 312) entitled, "An act providing a system of government for boroughs, and revising, amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McVICAR. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 1, page 2, by inserting after line 3 in large letters to correspond in type with line 25 the following: "Street Improvement."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

Session 1921 — 124th of the General Assembly

Vol. 6. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 13, 1921 No. 45.

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, April 13, 1921.

The Senate met at 10.30 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (F. E. Baldwin) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Benjamin F. Bungard, offered the following prayer:

O Lord, how excellent is Thy name in all the earth. Thou has opened before us the gates of a new day and we pray that Thou wilt give us such wisdom and guide us in all the deliberations in the affairs of State that shall bring honor to our great Commonwealth, and glory to Thy name. What is man that Thou art mindful of him. Thou hast created man a little lower than the angels, and endowed him with power and glory and honor and dominion. Give us such grace and wisdom that we may do such service here that will redound to the great name of this Commonwealth. We ask it in Thy name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HOMSHER, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one thousand five hundred and one of an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and nine) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" which as amended by the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and seventy-two) entitled "An act to amend an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and nine) entitled 'An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereto providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith'" reads as follows

"Section 1501. Every school district of the first, second or third class in this Commonwealth shall annually provide medical inspection of all the pupils of its public schools by proper medical inspectors to be appointed by the board of school directors of the district. Such medical inspection shall be made in the presence of the parent or guardian of the pupil when so requested by parent or guardian. All such medical inspectors shall be physicians legally qualified to practice medicine in this Commonwealth who have had at least two years experience in the practice of their profession and shall be paid such amounts as the boards of school directors may determine. Provided That nothing in this act shall preclude the appointment of health officers of municipalities as medical inspectors in the school districts of this Commonwealth" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1501. Every school district of the first, second or third class in this Commonwealth shall annually provide medical inspection of all the pupils of its public schools by proper medical inspectors to be appointed by the board of school directors of the district in sufficient number to conduct the required inspection in conformity with the standard requirements prescribed by the Commissioner of Health for the medical inspection of schools in such district. Such medical inspection shall be made in the presence of the parent or guardian of the pupil when so requested by parent or guardian. All such medical inspectors shall be physicians legally qualified to practice medicine in this Commonwealth who have had at least two years experience in the practice of their profession and shall be paid such amounts as the boards of school directors may determine. Provided That nothing in this act shall preclude the appointment of health officers of municipalities as medical inspectors in the school districts of this Commonwealth.

Section 2. That section one thousand five hundred and five of said act which as amended by said act of one thousand nine hundred and nineteen reads as follows

"Section 1505. The medical inspectors shall at least once each year inspect and carefully test and examine all pupils in the public schools of their districts giving special attention to defective sight, hearing, teeth or other disabilities and defects specified by the Commissioner of Health in his directions for medical examinations of schools. Each medical inspector shall make to the teacher or if the board of school directors so directs to the principal or district superintendent of schools a written report concerning all pupils found to need medical or surgical attention and giving careful directions concerning the care of each pupil who needs special care while in school. The teacher or the principal or district superintendent shall keep such report until the end of the school year shall carry out as carefully as possible said directions concerning the special care of pupils while in school and shall promptly send a copy of the medical inspector's report upon each child to the parents or guardian thereof" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1505. Section 12 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, this bill, No. 394, is a bill regulating the mining and anthracite coal in the anthracite counties. The question of surface support has been a long story in the halls of the legislature of Pennsylvania. I received through the mail this morning several resolutions adopted by people in the anthracite counties, and, if you will permit me, I will read one.

Scranton, Pa., April 11, 1921.

Hon. A. Davis, Senator,
Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir: The following resolution was unanimously passed by the congregation of the Jackson Street Baptist Church. This church has an active membership of 1,200 people.

WHEREAS,—The mine cave evil has now reached a point where it is a PUBLIC MENACE having long since passed the stage where an individual, or a few individuals, here and there, were endangered, and

WHEREAS,—The time has now come when we must have relief from this great menace to our lives, our homes, our churches, our schools, our streets and our peace-of-mind, therefore be it

RESOLVED,—That we, the members of the Jackson Street Baptist Church do hereby go unanimously on record most earnestly petitioning you to pass the Mattes bills now before the Legislature

B. L. C. BAER,
W. O. JENKINS,
D. H. WILLIAMS,
Committee.

Mr. President, I have in my hand the story, told by picture, of this great menace which is now in the anthracite field. The first picture, "Graves of the dead rocked by mine caves." The last resting place of a well known Scranton, Pa., woman, whose grave was torn open, a few weeks after burial, by a mine cave, in Cathedral Cemetery, where hundreds of bodies have been dropped into the mine beneath. The casket is shown in the pit, torn asunder, and the hand of the corpse is seen protruding from the burial case."

The second picture, "The Prosser Family." "Extensive timbering being done to save the home." "The House property wrecked by gas explosion following mine cave." "This property nearly adjoins the Park theatre, Scranton, Pa. It was demolished by an explosion of gas following a mine cave and the result thereof, a few minutes after the theatre audience had been dismissed."

"While responding to a fire alarm, William Frey, of Taylor, Pa., near Scranton, Pa., a truck driver, just missed dropping the fire fighting apparatus into this 30 foot pit on a main thoroughfare. Quick action on the part of the driver saves the lives of these firefighters."

"Another family driven into the street as a result of a mine cave such as menaces the life of the people in the anthracite region."

"A concrete black apartment in Scranton, Pa., collapses as a result of a mine cave at 1 o'clock in the morning, driving all occupants into the street."

Mr. President, I will say that the most of the Senators have received copies of those photographs, and that it will be unnecessary for me to go over them all. The coal companies have stated at hearings, that the bill would ruin the industry. Mr. President, I am here to state that the saving of one soul of a small child is more valuable than all the coal in Pennsylvania. Only a few months ago a mine cave opened on the street at 10 o'clock at night when the family was asleep and the gas fumes flowed into that home and the next morning the whole family, the mother, the husband and the little girl, twelve years old, all asphyicated. I want to tell you, gentlemen of the Senate, that this is a serious proposition. The Senate of Pennsylvania has been responsive. We have had hearings here; yesterday afternoon we had a hearing for several hours on the question of equal rights. We are not here asking only for equal rights, but human rights, and you men who live in territories where you have no mines cannot understand this, and I think it is time that the State of Pennsylvania would listen to the people of the anthracite coal regions and give us some relief. If we cannot get this relief from Pennsylvania we are going to march on to Washington and it is only a question of time, and I want to serve notice on the coal companies, that unless we get this relief we ask for, it is only a question of time when we are going to shut down this industry. The welfare of the public comes first, regardless of the Constitution, and it has been decided that the public welfare comes first. I ask all of you men in this Senate, who are fathers and have children and wives, if you do not do it for the sake of your own families, then do it for the sake of our families, who are in peril all the time. We cannot go to bed nights unless we put our windows to the top, for fear of gas creeping into our homes, and it is high time that the Senate of Pennsylvania recognize that. Remember this, I am speaking not only for the City of Scranton, but I am speaking for more than a million people in the anthracite coal regions, who are asking for this legislation and I am just going to say this much, that unless we get this legislation we are bound to take some other steps. We are not here to destroy the coal industry. We want the operators to take every pound of coal they have under the city of Scranton and elsewhere, but we say "We ask you to do it in such a way that you will not jeopardize the lives of our people," and that is what they are doing to-day. Several people have died from asphyxiation and causes due to the gas creeping into their homes, due to mine caves, and it is high time that the legislature of Pennsylvania take due notice and give us what we ask for at this time, and I ask the Senate to at least vote for this bill.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I have great great sympathy for the Senator from Lackawanna, Mr. Davis, and he has made a very appealing address to this Senate from the viewpoint of those living in the vicinity of Scranton and in the anthracite coal region, but the anthracite regions are not the entire State of Pennsylvania. Those people of the anthracite coal regions sold their property at fabulous prices. They sold the mineral rights and reserved the surface rights and everybody building on those surface rights knew that the mineral rights were sold to mining companies. It seems to me like very dangerous legislation for the State of Pennsylvania to start. Starting in the anthracite coal region, what safety has invested capital in any part of the State of Pennsylvania if they can be made felons for using their property in a perfectly legitimate way. I have no doubt but that every word the Senator says is true, so far as the conditions are concerned, but I for one, cannot subscribe to that class of legislation, or starting to place on the statute books that class of legislation because if we pass this kind of legislation next year they will be down here from the bituminous region, and from other regions, asking for the same character of legislation, and I warn the members of the Senate that they are making a mistake if they place this kind of a law on the statute books, that they are taking a step in the wrong direction They are not taking a step in the direction of progress in the State of Pennsylvania, and they are driving out of the State men who have their capital invested and invested in good faith. The people purchased the surface rights knowing that the mineral rights were reserved and that they get the money out of it. Therefore I shall be compelled to vote against this piece of legislation.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, this legislation, or legislation of a similar character, has been before every session of the legislature for a great many years. It is introduced to cure a local condition. The trouble with this bill is that it fastens upon an industry a principle and a burden to relieve a local condition. If it can be done in the anthracite it can be done in the bituminous. The principle is wrong. It involves the control of a man's property and the manner in which he shall operate it and the bill ought not to pass and I sincerely hope that this Senate will not give its approval to this legislation.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, the words of my friend, the Senator from Chester, Mr. Eyre, and also the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Crow, are absolutely true. It is a local condition, but the cities are a creature of the State, and, therefore, the legislature has a right to take care of the child which it has created. As far as the remarks of the Senator from Chester, Mr. Eyre, are concerned, yes, the people have waived damages, but the people who are mining the coal under their homes, destroying their properties and endangering their lives, have sold the surface for anywhere from three to four thousand dollars a lot. Now then, there is no man who paid four thousand dollars to build his home on unless he has some assurance that it will be protected. Years ago,—I can go back thirty years, and show you maps that were marked "abandoned."—it was understood in those days that only two-thirds of the coal was to be mined and leave the other one-third in for protection. That is the reason that the people purchased those lots at four thousand dollars and then built their homes on them. But the time is coming and it is not far distant, when the Supreme Court of the State of Pennsylvania will hand down a decision equal to the one of the State of New York, and those waivers will not be worth the paper they are written on, because the public welfare comes first and the State of Pennsylvania, if you please, should see to it that its inhabitants are protected. We have laws on the statute books compelling you and me to send our children to school. What protection would we give those children in those school buildings? I will just read you something here now. The estimated value of the school buildings in the city of Scranton is $3,000,000. The present enrollment is 24,456 pupils with the 690 teachers. Are we to compel our children to go to those schools and the building collapse? What becomes of the children? You say we should bear the burden, the school district. Yes, we tried that. The cost of repairs due to settlings of the school district in the city of Scranton, School No. 3, October 13, $8,970, School 16, wrecked, entirely wrecked. It happened during the vacation period, otherwise from three to four hundred children would probably have been killed in that wreck. It cost the School District $46,500.85 to repair that building. Wrecked again after spending $46,000, wrecked again in 1916, and cost $28,000 again to repair that school building. Other schools have been damaged. No. 17, cost to repair, $2,670. No. 40 School, $3,384. No. 32, $5,605. No. 25 School, $1,815. No. 22 School, $289. School No. 15, $1,391. Making a total of $104,377 for the repairing of those school buildings. Mr. President, then why should not we purchase the coal? We have purchased the coal as far as we can go. We have purchased coal pillars, No. 7 coal pillar, $679. No. 10, $1,020. That is for the coal directly under the school buildings. No. 11, $1,980, and so on down, the total of $66,900. Now that is costing us a lot of money and what are we doing it for? To protect the children that this Commonwealth compels us by statute, to send to school. If we do not send our children to school we are arrested and yet we do not know whether those children are coming back after they close those schools.

Mr. President, I do not like to make this remark, but while we have purchased this coal and paid for it some of the coal companies have gotten under that property and taken the coal which the School District has paid for; and not only under the school buildings, but a friend of mine, who lives two blocks away from me, owns the coal under his property and a certain coal company took it away, it did not belong the them, 10,000 tons of coal, and he has no redress. It is not a criminal act to steal coal under the ground, but it is criminal to steal a shovelfull of coal on the surface. It is a ridiculous thing that a coal company can take coal which does not belong to it and there is no penalty for it, but if you steal a shovelful of coal from the surface you are liable to a jail sentence. This is serious, and I know that my friend from Fayette, Senator Crow, will agree with me that it is not right. He says it is a local condition and we admit it is local; nevertheless, we are a creature of this Commonwealth and the Commonwealth has a right to protect its child.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Lackawanna a question.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Lackawanna, Mr. Davis, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, if the coal has been taken in the manner he states I just want to ask him if, under Pennsylvania law, the owner is not entitled to triple damages?

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, he is entitled to three times the amount of the coal that is taken from there but it is not a criminal offense.

Mr. CROW. Mr. President, have the courts of Lackawanna county been called upon to right the wrong in those cases?

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, yes, and we have a case pending now where the Mayor of Scranton has enforced the police power and has shut down the mine and the Court is now debating on the penalty.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until tomorrow morning at ten o'clock, for the consideration of bills on first and second reading, reports from committees, the reading of bills in place, and receiving messages from the Governor and the House of Representatives.

Mr. EINSTEIN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The Senate adjourned at 5.57 o'clock P. M. until Thursday, April 14, 1921, at 10 o'clock A. M.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 13, 1921.

The House met at 11 o'clock A. M.
The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler), in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, so cleanse and purify our hearts that our lives and the State itself may truly be represented in the building in which we meet. May it be symbolical of what the State should be. Let the foundations be laid on the bedrock of the eternal verities, so that a fitting superstructure may be reared thereon that shall last throughout the times. May its granite front be able to resist every onslaught that shall come from without, and may it be within as pure as the marble halls that line its walls.

May there be that inner life in home and school and church, and in all of its institutions that shall be unflecked and unstained. And above all, may it rear its lofty dome toward heaven, ever being a symbol telling us of where we must go as to the last resort and the only and final hope. Place it upon a hill that it may overlook all the country and be as a city that shall shine throughout all time. Bless us, we pray Thee, with everything that is noble and good, and may its walls be guilded with the charity and the brotherliness that shall make it ever beautiful to behold. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Jaurnal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on the motion of Mr. Curran, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

The SPEAKER asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Thomas, because of illness.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, on behalf of the Military Committee I wish to state that several matters have arisen requiring an inspection at Mt. Gretna. It is a question of expending a large sum of money and it has been arranged, with the approval of the Speaker, that the Military Committee of this House leave at 12:30 to make an inspection at Mt. Gretna. I therefore, ask leave of absence for the Military Committee until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The SPEAKER. Will the committee be back in time for the night session.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, the committee will be back at 4 o'clock.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection leave of absence will be granted.

BILL RE-REFERRED.

Mr. CHAPLIN returned from the Committee on Education, with the recommendation that it be re-referred to the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation, House Bill No. 1509, entitled:

RESOLUTION CONGRATULATING CARDINAL DOUGHERTY UPON HIS ELEVATION TO THE CARDINALATE.

Mr. GREEN offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, April 13, 1921.

Whereas: a native son of Pennsylvania and one of the leading factors for the betterment and uplift of our great Commonwealth has been highly honored by the Church he represents in being appointed to a most exalted position in administering to the spiritual wants of millions of people in this country; and

Whereas: the officials of the city of Philadelphia, of the State and of the Nation have joined with representatives of many religious bodies, business men, and citizens of every class, in tendering to him a public reception at the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, Friday Evening, April fifteenth; and

Whereas: with a feeling of pride in having within the borders of our State so distinguished and honored a citizen the General Assembly is desirous of showing its appreciation; therefor be it

Resolved (if the Senate Concur), that the General Assembly does hereby tender its congratulations to His Eminence Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia, on his elevation to the supreme post he now occupies in the Catholic Church of the entire world; and be it further

Resolved, That the General Assembly sincerely wishes him a long continued period of usefulness to the State and Nation; and be it further

Resolved, That the chief clerk is instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to His Eminence Cardinal Dougherty and to the Hon. J. Hampton Moore, Mayor of Philadelphia, Chairman of the Citizens' Committee.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 301 FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. SCHAEFFER offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted:

In the House of Representatives, April 13, 1921.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 301, File Folio 2285, entitled "An act to amend section six and eight of article two of chapter seven of the act approved the fourteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws, three hundred and twelve) entitled 'An act providing a system of government for boroughs and revising, amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs,' and to repeal section seven of article two of chapter seven of said act," be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION NO. 9.

Mr. STRAUSS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up Resolution No. 9, File Folio 4395.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the resolution.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

Whereas Samuel S. Lewis Auditor General-elect of Pennsylvania and at present identified with the Auditor General's office in a recent address before certain members of this House declared that funds of the Commonwealth had been used to pay expense accounts when in his opinion said expense accounts could not be lawfully paid and that after he became Auditor General he proposed to proceed to consult the Attorney General and if his opinion was sustained by the Attorney General he proposed to proceed to recover back into the treasury the money expended on these expense accounts and

Whereas in the same address he declared that persons were drawing pay without authority of law and that others drawing more pay than the law authorized therefore

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives that the said Samuel S. Lewis be requested to immediately furnish House detailed data and information showing the persons to whom the expense accounts referred to by him were paid the amounts and the items and the character of items therein the legality of which he questions and his reason for so doing together with detailed information and data together with the names of the employes and the amount to them paid either without legal authority or in excess of the compensation authorized by law to be paid to them together with such other information as may be available to him and within his knowledge showing a violation or a disregard of the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by any department of the Government.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, I move that resolution No. 9 be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lancaster.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire the purpose of recommitting this resolution to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, the purpose is to give the committee an opportunity to give consideration to the resolution.

Mr. GOLDER. I desire to ask the gentleman from Lancaster if the House is not entitled to give this resolution consideration. As you well know, during the last week or two the Auditor General-elect of Pennsylvania has made some very serious charges against the administration and several officers of the administration. I have absolute faith and confidence in the administration, and I believe also that the Auditor General-elect is a man of high integrity. If there is any truth in these statements and accusations we ought to know it, and if there is not we ought to know it. I am opposed to sending a resolution of this character to some committee for the purpose of stifling or pickling it. There are four or five resolutions that have taken the same course. If there is any fear from exposure or something then I can understand the object but I am sure that the administration will be justified in whatever course it has taken and will satisfy the public if there is any investigation made. Therefore, I oppose the pickling of this resolution.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I heartily second the remarks of my colleague from Philadelphia. If this were a bill it ought to go before a committee, but it is simply a resolution calling for information, and such information as the House is entitled to secure, and in view of the fact that the session has only a little over two weeks to run, if we are going to act on this resolution we must act on it at once and to refer this resolution to a committee at this time is unfortunate.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Golder.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, yes sir.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if he is not a member of the Ways and Means Committee?

Mr. GOLDER. I am.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Are you not the secretary of that committee?

Mr. GOLDER. I am.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Do you know anything of that committee ever having pickled any act of legislation?

Mr. GOLDER. I might say with due respect to the chairman of that committee, that in all my experience as secretary of that committee no bill has ever been handed to the secretary of that committee for that purpose whatever. We have an efficient chairman of that committee. In every case I know that he is efficient and absolutely fair I think the resolution would be given fair consideration, but in the stress of work at the present time, this resolution, which has nothing to do with the ordinary usages of a bill or with the ordinary purposes required for legislation that comes before the Committee on Ways and Means, and for that reason, I believe that it should be considered on the floor of this House.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. I will ask the gentleman from Philadelphia to answer my question, as a member of the committee and as its secretary.

Mr. GOLDER. I am a member of the committee and its secretary.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Have you ever known of any legislation being pickled by the committee or by the chairman of that committee?

Mr. GOLDER. I will answer that question in the same spirit in which it is given, as to the word "pickled," yes, sir.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will state at this time that the chairman of the committee or its methods should not be discussed. That is not the question at issue at the present time. A reflection upon the committee or any member of the committee is unwarranted.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, in using the word "pickled" it is simply in the vernacular, having to do with heading off undesirable legislation without casting any reflection upon the committee or any member of it. That in my opinion is what I had in mind when I used the term and I have the highest respect for the chairman of our committee and every man on the committee and for every member of the House, but I do feel that, after all, a committee, whether it be the Ways Committee or any other committee, is only a sub-committee of the House and that this resolution should be considered on the floor of the House; and as it is not in line with any particular work of that committee, it should not be sent there. A resolution of this kind should be thrashed out on the floor of the House.

Mr. STRAUSS. Mr. Speaker, the statement contained in the resolution was made before thirty-five members of the House of Representatives, before the Legislative League, and I thought it no more than proper and right that the whole House should know these charges and that they should be properly investigated. I want to say further that this is not a matter that should go before a committee at all. It is simply a request for information so that the House can then act upon it and do what is proper and right and just to ourselves and to the people of the Commonwealth.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, the motion to commit this resolution to the Ways and Means Committee should prevail for this reason. Mr. Lewis is at present a clerk in the Auditor General's Department, and I submit to this House that it would be rather unfair to ask a clerk in any department to criticize his chief. It is embarrassing in the extreme and I do not believe that the statement which Mr. Lewis made some few weeks ago was intended by him to be made a matter of legislative action at this time. Furthermore, I take it that the examination which is provided for by this resolution would take time to develop, and we know, there is no use of concealing it, that the purpose of this resolution is to get further information to be followed by other resolutions which will take up the time of this House to the detriment of the position of the bills which we have now on the calendar and want passed. This resolution furthermore should be in the Committee on Ways and Means so that the matters therein referred to can be investigated and taken up to the end that in conjunction with the Appropriations Committee the appropriations of the Auditor General's Department may be examined into and discovered if correct; and it is furthermore to be remembered that the appropriation which will be made at this session for the Auditor General's Department will be by Mr. Lewis himself cut down considerably, that he will ask a different amount from that which may ordinarily be expected. Mr. Lewis will perform the functions of his office and furthermore under the law as we have it today it is the duty of the Governor if any irregularity exists in any department upon complaint to have them investigated and reported not merely to the House but to the Commonwealth at large. I therefore submit that this is a matter that requires careful attention, not hasty attention. If we will send this resolution back to the Ways and Means Committee, we will get the necessary information, and have it attended to when the appropriations for the department come up. There is no need for the resolution whatever, and it is only one of those resolutions the purpose of which is merely to make someone feel uncomfortable, and we are not sure of any information.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, the very first remark that my friend from Philadelphia has made impresses upon your mind that this resolution ought to pass. He says Mr. Lewis is now employed as a clerk in the Auditor General's Department. Mr. Lewis would never have made the statement that he did before this body of men, represnting this House, if he did not know the facts. He is the only one who can produce the facts which he made in the statement presented before the members of this House in a certain meeting. This resolution ought to pass because only seventeen days more and Mr. Lewis will be the Auditor General of this Commonwealth and the statement gives some evidence of what he has in his mind. I hope the resolution will pass.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, referring to another remark. Just before the gentleman from Philadelphia took his seat he said that this resolution was only presented to make somebody feel uncomfortable. Who is it going to make feel uncomfortable? The man whose records are straight and correct, or the fellow whose records are not straight and correct? We all know that the man whose books are straight and whose dealings are right does not care how many people ask him for an accounting, and the words of the honorable gentleman, the Auditor General of the Commonwealth, some four years ago, that no honest man would object to an investigation and an accounting, who is it that this resolution is going to make feel uncomfortable? I say if there is anybody in the employ of this State that is in the position that some resolution like this will make feel uncomfortable, then this House should go a little bit further and make it very uneasy and very uncomfortable and very unpleasant for him for the rest of his term. I have a resolution in there similar to this and we have never heard tell of it since it went in there.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, my purpose in making the motion to commit this resolution to the Committee on Ways and Means is not for the purpose of pickling this resolution, but it for the purpose of giving it a proper and thorough investigation, what the statement is grounded upon and backed up by, and we all know that this cannot be done by a large membership, such as the membership of this House. It should be referred back to that committee and from that committee a sub-committee should be appointed to give it proper time and attention and find out just what there is in this statement and then they will make a recommendation back to the House.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I seconded that motion to recommit to the Ways and Means Committee with the thought in mind that that committee will immediately begin a proper investigation of the matters involved in that resolution. I did it for the reason, Mr. Speaker, that the time is growing very short, that we have not many days left in which to consider legislation. We only have about one more week left to legislate. We have today on our calendar over one hundred bills on third reading. Now I have confidence in the Committee on Ways and Means, and I am sure that when they get this resolution in their committee, they will immediately investigate the matter contained in the resolution, and make a report to this body. For that reason, Mr. Speaker, I seconded the motion.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walker, will state his point of order.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the resolution should be declared out of order because Mr. Lewis, being an employee and not an officer of the department, cannot be called upon to furnish information from that department.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will sustain the point of order raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walker. The Chair is of the opinion that this resolution calls for information which is, at the present time, beyond the power of the gentleman to whom it is addressed to produce. That being so, the Chair feels that the point of order of the gentleman from Philadelphia is well taken. The Chair is further of the opinion that the commitment of this resolution to the Committee on Ways and Means would give an opportunity for a thorough and deliberate discussion by every member of that committee which a resolution carrying the gravity that this resolution carries should not be subjected to without a most thorough deliberation. The Chair sustains the point of order raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walker.

BILL ON THIRD READING (SPECIAL ORDER).

The SPEAKER. The hour of 11.30 A. M. having arrived, the House will now take up the special order set for that time.

Agreeably to order,

Section 21 When proof of the manufacture sale offering for sale furnishing transportation possession exportation or importation of any intoxicating liquors has been given in evidence the jury may infer that the same was for beverage purposes but this inference shall not apply to medicines or anything unfit for beverage purposes or to extracts ordinarily used for culinary purposes And this act shall not apply to such extracts when intended to be used for flavoring anything which when so flavored shall not violate the provisions of this act

Section 22 It shall not be unlawful to possess intoxicating liquor in one's private dwelling provided such liquor is for use only for the personal consumption of the owner thereof and his family residing in such dwelling and of his bona fide guests when entertained by him therein which entertainment shall not be deemed an unlawful furnishing The term "private dwelling" shall be construed not only in its ordinary sense but also to include the room or rooms used and occupied not transiently but solely as a residence in an apartment house hotel or boarding house

Section 23 Any premises for which a license is granted under this act shall be subject at all times to inspection by authority of any judge of the court which has granted such license or of the district attorney of such county or of the mayor of any city wherein such premises are located for the purposes of ascertaining whether any intoxicating liquor is kept upon said premises and any such liquor found thereon may be seized and used as evidence of the violation of this act

Section 24 Nothing in this act shall affect any case in which it shall appear that the crime therein charged was committed prior to the date of the approval hereof but such offenders may be prosecuted and punished as if this act had not been passed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, the problem of law enforcement in the State of Pennsylvania, as affecting the Eighteenth Amendment, is an emphatic challenge to every member of this House today. A solution of this problem, in a measure at least, is offered to you in Bill 1237. This bill designed to make operative in the State of Pennsylvania this Eighteenth Amendment is the carefully worked out plan of the great Governor of this State. The provisions in this bill are the fruition of the well-seasoned judgment and the conscientious conviction, as well as the best thought and analysis, of the Attorney General of this State.

Now, gentlemen, this is not an eleventh-hour conclusion. Early in his campaign for election in 1918, William C. Sproul declared himself openly and frankly for the ratification of the Eighteenth Amendment. It was largely due to him that in the session of 1919 this General Assembly ratified that amendment and became the forty-fifth State on the list. It is not, then, peculiar that at this time the Governor of this State is leading a movement to have the State of Pennsylvania on the list as the forty-second State which has adopted enforcement codes in this Union. Now, the Governor of this State in his inaugural address, came out emphatically for the enforcement of law. In the session of 1919 a suggestion that we should adopt an enforcement code met with favor until it was determined that until the Congress had interpreted the Eighteenth Amendment and the Supreme Court of the United States adjudicated some vital points, it was unwise to adopt an enforcement code. Now, gentlemen, the Governor of this State and his Attorney General have weighed carefully all proposals for the enforcement act of the State of Pennsylvania. Naturally, all those proposals centered upon the Brooks law.

The proposal that the Brooks law should be repealed led to an effort to work out a system by which less than one-half of one per cent. of alcoholic contents should be regulated. Admittedly, the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania is conscientious and true in his convictions when he says that he does not desire that the boys and girls of the State of Pennsylvania shall be able to obtain freely and without reserve one-half of one per cent. He further is honest in his conviction when he says to the members of this House that one-half of one per cent. can and will be made the basis for a stronger drink by the adding of strong alcoholic mixtures. It then develops that he has worked out a system of retaining control, through license, of "spirituous, vinous, malt and brewed liquors" of less than a half per cent. alcoholic content and prohibiting absolutely the "manufacture, sale, possession or transportation" of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes. This system, presented in Bill 1237, is said to be unlike that adopted in any other State of the Union. Likewise, declare the advocates of this plan, the regulation and restriction of the sale of intoxicating liquors in this Commonwealth, until they were outlawed by the Eighteenth Amendment, was also unique and distinctive. For over thirty years the Governor considered the State of Pennsylvania by confining the sale of intoxicants to hotels for the most part, and to men of special standing, under direction of the courts, avoided many of the abuses and evils of the less restrained traffic in other states.

Out of this law, and its interpretation by the courts, grew the status whereby a beverage containing any alcohol whatever could be sold only in licensed places and in such places not to any one under the age of twenty-one years. Thus, while near-beer, or any beverage up to a half of one per cent. alcoholic content, might be sold in many states even under prohibition laws, its sale was greatly restricted in this State. Admittedly this fact and this condition led the Governor to look with disfavor upon taking the ban off the sale of the beverages up to one-half of one per cent. of alcohol, as would result by the repeal of the Brooks Law.

The principle involved in this issue is distinct. We have just failed in efforts to pass through this House a bill wiping the Brooks Law off the statute books and replacing it with an enforcement code. I stood consistently and uncompromisingly for that bill. And now I ask this House to pass this bill, even though it retains the license feature. If it does not work, I shall be the first to get back of a system found to be better.

The moral issue as to license is largely removed in this bill. I hold, with many others, that licensing that which is wrong to make it legally right is in itself wrong. But licensing that which is determined to be right violates no part of the moral or religious standards. Wrong may result from the abuse of the license, or in the violation of law but this must find its remedy in enforcement. This plan, or any other plan, will not work out for good unless there is a willingness and the courage in any community to enforce the law. Admittedly, the evil in this system of enforcement may be found in the open door of the licensed place, but even under no license these doors cannot be closed by the law if only non-intoxicants are sold. And I warn the interests in this State bent brazenly and defiantly on setting at naught the Constitution of this country to satisfy an appetite for that which is unlawful, there will be a day of reckoning with those who violate the law.

The safeguards in this bill, against violation of the law, are strong and plain. The temptation of the licensee to cross the border line which divides the non-intoxicants and the intoxicants is recognized as great. From a thousandth of a per cent. under the border line to a thousandth of a per cent. above the border line is not far. Because of this the Attorney General has provided a workable, effective means of enforcement in sections 20, 21, 22 and 23. The right of inspection, to enter the place where non-intoxicants are sold, is based upon the honest, reasonable assumption that the licensee acted in good faith and was fully aware of his agreement when he accepted his license under conditions, plain and explicit, that he shall not possess or sell intoxicants for beverage purposes. Under these conditions any licensee who is honest in his business agreements, will invite inspection and any who are not honest, should be made to feel the firm hand of the law.

Under this provision, if the law is enforced, there will be an end to making license places headquarters for bootleggers.

In section 20, making it unlawful to "manufacture, sell, offer for sale, furnish, transport, import, export or possess" any intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, the licensee faces plainly and unequivocally the border line of crime. If he crosses that border line, which he has agreed not to cross, and which he knows will make him a criminal if he does cross, is it not both fair and logical, as well as right under the law, that he shall be presumed to be guilty unless he can show he had the intoxicants for medicinal purposes only? And who is it that keeps his medicine in his place of business instead of his home?

Hence a licensee having intoxicants in his place, convicts himself, under the law, and his rights are in no way impaired or denied before the bar of justice. He faces the presumption of guilt which he brought upon himself by open, knowing, wilful, inexcusable infraction of the law under his license.

Fear has been expressed to the administration that this bill would open the way to a licensed place in present dry areas. It is replied that the courts may, as at present, deny all licenses and their decision may not be reviewed. It is also replied that, should the Brooks law be repealed all present dry areas would be open to free and unrestricted distribution and sale of an alcoholic beverage of less than a half per cent. to be purchased by persons of all ages. Courts may still confine the sale of non-intoxicants, as the administration interprets this bill and license may be revoked for violation of the law. Where inspection is so strict, either the licensee will have to get along by selling near-beer or go out of business.

I appeal to the members of this House to vote for this bill. Let every good citizen demand not only that the law be enforced, but that a workable enforcement law be enacted. Let us by our votes here to-day declare ourselves for the safety and well-being of our Commonwealth. No nation can long endure in which a large number of its citizens trifle with law.

Setting at naught one law leads to disrespect for all laws. The greatest achievement of any people is the achievement of implicit, honest obedience to all laws. It is no longer a question of liquor or no liquor. It is question of carrying out, in our land, the edict of the nation that the law shall and must be supreme, or of permitting lawlessness to go unchecked.

I plead with you, for the good of human kind, for the unsullied honor of our great State, for the good name of the citizenship of this great Commonwealth which has emblazoned our history with the diadem of exalted character and splendid achievement, until we stand among the states unique in our godliness and our prosperity, and until we have taken a place before the world as a State where peace reigns and sober sense holds sway, in working out our enviable end, under sane and just laws—conservative, constructive, thrifty, law-abiding, heroic in deed and noble in character—ends we cannot hope to preserve if we lose sight of the star of liberty set in the firmament of obedience to law, the safeguard of which resposes in the effective enforcement of our nation's organic law.

I plead with you to give us this law, that we may go forward in the path of duty, concurrently placed upon us by the Eighteenth Amendment.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House. I request that we have as good order as we can have in the House for a few moments. I know there are a great many here who are interested in hearing the discussion on this question and what I say may differ from that which has been said by others. As a personal favor I ask to have at least enough order so that my voice may be heard, for a few moments.

Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, there is perhaps just one main reason why I have been in this House for two years, and that is, because I am interested more in the enactment of laws in favor of and the enforcement of liquor prohibition legislation in Pennsylvania than in anything else. That is the issue that has been supreme in the two last campaigns in the big country districts I come from. I represent over 60,000 people in Crawford County; I feel that I am representing them and I believe that I am speaking their sentiments and not my own, and I think that is the attitude that every member should take. In regard to the bill before us that is claimed by some to be a dry measure or a prohibition enforcement measure, to my mind after all the study I have given it, talking to people about it and reading about it I am satisfied that the State of Pennsylvania will have no drier law after the enactment of this bill than they will have under the Brooks High License Law. If that is the case, what advantage are the dry people and the prohibition re-enforcement people going to get by badly mixing up existing statutes with a number of amendments and by adding to it a different clause on legislation from what it ever carried before. What is known as the Brooks High License Law was enacted in 1887 and every member who sits in this House knows that that law has been the storm cented in our courts ever since its enactment; and that there has been hardly a word or a syllable, but what has been passed on, and we know what the decision has been in our superior court last month. In Pennsylvania if a man does not hold a license to sell liquor he is amenable to the law. It is easy enough for you if you have the courts and the moral stamina in your community to prevent men from trafficking in intoxicating liquors under that law, and if he does not hold a license he is amenable to the law and suffers a penalty. We have no trouble in the enforcement of this law in territory where we have dry sentiment. Last month the superior court handed down an opinion which we believe will stand, that under the Brooks High License Law to-day, the Federal Constitution and the Volstead Act, stands supreme and complete so far as all prohibition clauses are concerned and so far as the penalties for the violation of the prohibition features are concerned. It also holds that the licensing for the sale of intoxicating liquor or any liquor that is in violation of the Federal Constitution and the Federal Act is absolutely void and done away with. Therefore, no court in the State of Pennsylvania acting under the Brooks High License Law can license any person to deal in the liquor traffic or in any beverage that is prohibited by the Volstead Act or by the Federal Constitution today. Gentlemen of the House, we all know that that reduces it at least to a drink which is commonly called "near-beer" and which nobody believes to be intoxicating and nobody will argue that it is deleterious to health, and we never thought of it being applied to any license system of Pennsylvania. We know that a few years ago there was a storm center bearing on interpretations of this law, but whether or not the judges of our courts sitting in a license court found it so it was determined that a license when not necessary was not granted. One of the judges of Venango County, Judge Criswell, held that the Brooks High License Law had the right to deny a license to any place that applied for it when not necessary and that it would be denied irrespective of all other reasons submitted, and the law was sustained and from that time we have been gradually going dry from one county to another. After that act was sustained the courts in the various counties have followed it where there was a dry sentiment and have ruled that in their jurisdiction there was no necessity for a licensed place to deal in the liquor traffic, and, gentlemen of this House, if we are to suppose that this law is before us now is to give us more effective prohibition or better enforcement of the liquor laws, I ask you why did the framers of this bill take from it that one clause that absolutely takes from our courts the right to find whether or not a place that is asking for a license shall be granted if it is unnecessary? I submit to any person who has carefully studied this act to decide if a man applies for a license and wants to hang out the word "saloon" the only thing the court needs is to pass on whether or not there is anything against that man's reputation and whether or not he is a reputable or proper citizen or whether the room is clean and sanitary and properly equipped. If in the affirmative this bill takes from our judges the right to refuse that license if anybody in the neighborhood presents a protest the same as was presented before Judge Criswell when the ruling was made to which I have just referred.

I say, gentlemen of this House, that it is not a better enforcement law, and to me is not a dry measure. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House one other thing about this bill that I want to call to your attention. Up until the time of the Federal Constitutional Amendment and the Volstead Act we had beverages, or intoxicating beverages as we called them. We have the same thing since the enactment of the Constitutional Amendment and we have two distinct articles that we are dealing with. We have one article that is prohibited, absolutely prohibited by the Federal Constitution and in which we as a State have only one mode of action, or one right of action and that is to pass laws co-ordinate with the Federal law for the purpose of enforcement. The other, or what might be called non-intoxicating beverages or drinks of which I might go on and name a score an article of food or drink or beverages. They are not articles that are criminal in their use; they are not detrimental in their use, and we are simply proposing licensing them as a matter of regulation and a matter of revenue. Now I contend, gentlemen of the House, that this is incorporating two distinct classes of legislation. One is purely criminal, and enforcing a criminal constitutional amendment of the Federal government and the other is purely a civil matter of regulating a non-harmful thing. That being the case these classes of legislation cannot be incorporated in one act and passed under one heading. Therefore I say that the law as drawn with the prohibition clause added to our old license system would be unconstitutional and void.

One other matter. I find that the way the matter has been brought before the House, the matter of the Martin Bill and the presenting of an amendent to the old Brooks Law raises the question in the minds of many who are honestly and earnestly dry advocates as to whether or not as a matter of expediency they should go along on this bill. Gentlemen of the House, if it in anyway increases the effect of a prohibition bill or a dry enforcement measure better than what we have got on the books to-day, or if the people thought that the effect was more satisfactory, it would be disapproved by the ninety-nine who voted for the other measure, and if the conditions that were said to exist had been as stated there seemingly would be some excuse for trying to call it a dry measure, but from the records they are not. The comment from several sources, numerous sources in the newspapers I maintain carry out the facts shown that so far as public opinion on this bill is concerned, it is a wet measure and satisfactory to the wets. I want to read just two short items on that subject, one coming from Reading, simply a newspaper correspondent writing in from Reading, not an editorial, but a newspaper correspondent writing in from there and he said, "Nearly all the hotel and saloon men here are enthusiastic over the proposed amendments, but some fear the lower license fees and the cutting out of bonds, formerly required, will be a disadvantage." They are all enthusiastic for it. We who have been reading the Philadelphia Dispatch and occasionally turn over to the personal liberty column on the back page, I think it needs no argument that it is very wet, decidedly wet. We know all its writings and all of its tendencies, it leans that way, and falls over that way, here is what it says in its last issue: "Politicians both 'On the Hill,' and in Philadelphia, say it drags the liquor business further into politics, and whoever is in political power will be able to deliver sledge hammer blows through the saloonkeeper.

Gentlemen, one of the worst curses in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that ever happened in my opinion was the grafting of the Brooks High License Law on our courts; and those who know the history of our courts prior to that law know that the judiciary have suffered, that the courts have suffered by having that item to handle. It is in no sense judicial and it has caused many and many of our judges in our counties to be elected just on the one question of whether they were wet or dry, no difference as to what their legal ability was, that was the issue upon which they were elected. The comments on the floor of this House from our great and glorious city in the east show that the politics of these things are sadly in their courts there.

Just one matter further. One of the members whom I believe is close to and absolutely in sympathy with the wet interests on the floor of this House yesterday, in speaking on this bill when the amendment was up, I think untied the bag and let the cat out on the floor, and the cat is going to continue to run now that it is out, and the people of this Commonwealth will know. Here is what the gentleman said: "We who represent rather a liberal territory should find the ground on which we can get together." The question is for them to find the ground that will satisfy them or which they think will continue to give a lease of life to the obnoxious saloon that has cursed this country. Gentlemen of the House, I do not question the honesty or the integrity of the sponsor of this bill or those who are back of it. Their intentions may be good, but I absolutely differ with them. I believe the bill is more wet than the old law standing as it is. Personally I very much prefer that the old law stand as it is interpreted by the courts as we have it now, and if necessary let us go to the people in 1922 with the issue squarely drawn and not mixed up. I ask you to defeat this bill.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, yesterday when that amendment was introduced to this bill some debate occurred on it. As a result I wish to read to you a letter received to-day from the Attorney General on the amendment which may to some extent clear up any doubts that are in your minds. The Attorney General says, "I have read the amendment made by the House in the twenty-first section of House Bill 1237—Woner Bill.

The amendment does not seem to make any vital change in the effect of the section. As introduced, the section provided that proof of sale, furnishing, etc., of intoxicating liquor should raise a presumption that the same was for beverage purposes. The section as now amended provides that upon proof of a sale, furnishing, etc., the jury may infer that it was for beverage purposes.

While the language of the amendment is less positive than the original language, the purpose of each is the same, namely, to relieve the District Attorney from affirmatively proving that the sale, furnishing, etc., was for beverage purposes. In the one case a presumption is created, and in the other an inference is sustained. I would think the practical results before a jury, would be substantially the same. If it were proved that one had furnished intoxicating liquor and he produced no evidence to explain the purpose, the jury, under this amendment, would infer that it was for beverage purposes just as, under the original language, they would presume it was for beverage purposes.

The Martin Bill, when introduced, contained in section eight, the same provisions as that originally in section twenty-one of the present bill. By referring to that bill (House white folio 2073), you will notice that the entire section was stricken out in committee. Consequently the Martin Bill, as voted upon by the House, provided for neither a presumption nor an inference, but would have required proof that the sale, furnishing, etc., was for beverage purposes. In this particular the present bill, with or without the amendment of yesterday, is infinitely stronger than the Martin Bill. In my judgment its strength is not seriously affected by the amendment." Its strength has not been seriously affected by the amendment. To those of you who come from dry territory, I will say that if you vote against this bill you will have one splendid time explaining to your constituents why the infamous Brooks High License Law remains in its present form upon the statute books.

Mr. McVICAR. Mr. Speaker, I just want to take a moment or two of your time, and I want to speak on the legal point which was just discussed by the gentleman from Philadelphia. A question has arisen in the minds of many of you whether this bill has been weakened or materially weakened by the amendments inserted in it. In my judgment it has not. In its practical effect, I take it, the amendments are more in form than in substance. In a trial on an indictment under the original act, if the sale or possession of intoxicating liquor is proved by the Commonwealth, the court would be bound to instruct the jury that it had the right to presume that it was for beverage purposes. Under the bill as amended, the court would instruct the jury that it had the right to infer that it was for beverage purposes. Now, I ask you, gentlemen, what would be the practical result in either case,—whether the judge said the jury had the right to presume, or that it might infer? The verdict would be exactly the same in effect in practically all of the cases, and, therefore, I say to you, that I think the opinion of the Attorney General is correct and that this amendment means a change in form and not in substance. If you were in favor of the bill in its original form, you should be in favor of it now. If you are in favor of it as it is amended, you should be in favor of it, of course.

Mr. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, to my mind the people of this State will little note nor long remember what is said here today on this question, but they will never forget what is done. We are confronted at this time, to my mind, with one of the most important pieces of legislation that has come before us this session. It is a piece of legislation that does not affect any particular class, but affects the entire mass of the people of this great Commonwealth. Two years ago it was the privilege of a great many of the members here today to vote for the ratification of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution. That amendment was adopted, and you all know what it provided. Since the passage of that act there has grown up a system in many sections of this State known as the "bootlegging" business. That system is carried on in some parts of the State indiscriminately, and is attended with great hardship, several times resulting in murder. To my mind the man in this business is no better than the ordinary traitor to his country, because the Eighteenth Amendment is as much a section of our Constitution as any other portion of it, and any man who lives under the provisions of our Constitution and the protection of our flag has no right to violate any sections thereof. As a result of this iniquitous system that has grown up, we need an enforcement act in Pennsylvania. The only question confronting us today is what that act should be. I do not think there is a man in this House, regardless of whether he is wet or dry, that does not agree with me that we are in need of an enforcement act in this State. I have never made a special study on this line of legislation, but unfortunately, whether it is well-founded or not, there is an element of doubt in the minds of many of the members of this House whether this is the proper line of legislation to reach that which is needed now in this State. I am going to frankly confess to you men of this House today, and to the good citizens of the State who are sitting in the hall of this House, that I for one am loathe to do anything that will cause the license system to be brought back to the State in any way, shape or form. I realize and heard the arguments on both sides. It has been pointed out that in effect this bill does not license the sale of intoxicating liquor, but with my brief knowledge of the law, I cannot bring myself to the point where I can freely believe it is necessary to have a license system in order to enforce prohibition. That seems to be inconsistent. But my point is just this: We need an enforcement act. Some of us are not getting what we want. Yet, with the experts of this country who have made a special study of enforcement laws, this subject should be worked out and thoroughly discussed and digested by this time, so there should not be any question on any matter pertaining to this legislation as to what is and what is not a practical enforcement bill. The various members of this House cannot study that subject. It is a question for experts who have made a study of this question.

There is submitted to us today an act, which we are called to vote upon, and I intend to vote for that measure. I do not like the idea of the license system. It may be the proper way under the conditions in which we are living in Pennsylvania; I trust it is. Some of us, as I said before, are not getting what we want, but we want an enforcement act and I intend to vote for this measure. In making these few remarks I make them neither as an opponent of the bill nor as a special booster for the bill, but to get before the members of this House my real position. I do not want to vote for a bill that is going to come back to us in its actual application and be a ghost to us like Shakespeare's. I say we should support this measure because we need an enforcement bill, and it is the only thing we can get. Let us give it a chance. If it does not prove what it should be, the burden is not on our shoulders. We are not the fathers of this measure. The men who have laid it before us are the men who will have to answer for its working out. Coming from a dry district, I feel that it is my duty to support every dry measure that is brought before this House, and for that reason I intend to vote for this bill. The burden is not ours; we will not have to answer for it, and if in two years it appears that the bill does not work out in a practical way, then is the time to clean house. I do not have any doubt in my mind but that if this bill proves us to have been wrong and is not practical in its workings in this State, that in two years from now there will be a housecleaning in this State.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following members:

Messrs. Hess, Haws, Charles P. Dewey, Vickerman, Hagerty, Albert Millar, Heffernan, Trainer, Conner, Dilsheimer, Alexander, Franklin, Love, Ehrhardt, Edmonds, Krause, Eaches, Sinclair, Horne, Green and others.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question,

On the question,

Shall the main question be put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The SPEAKER. The roll will be verified.

The roll was verified as follows:

APPROVAL OF RESOLUTION.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, April 7, 1921.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen: I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed the following resolution of the Senate and House of Representatives recalling from the Governor House Bill No. 153, File Folio 2933, entitled:

"Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 153, File Folio 2933, entitled 'An act authorizing and directing a city of the third class to provide by ordinance for the payment for public work or improvements heretofore made for and accepted by such city where no legal or valid contract was entered into as required by law' be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment."

Accordingly, the original bill is herewith returned.

WM. C. SPROUL.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 153.

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed finally be reconsidered.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1033, entitled:

An Act relating to the taking of certain fur bearing animals.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, at the request of the sponsor, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 7, page 3, line 7, by inserting "offense" after the word "subsequent."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1189, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (Pamphlet Laws one hundred sixty--seven) entitled "An act to provide for the better protection of life and health by diminishing the danger from infectious and contagious diseases through the creation of a State Board of Undertakers in the cities of the first second and third classes with systematic examinations registration and licenses for all entering the business of burying the dead and penalties for violation of the provisions thereof" as amended by the act approved the twenty-fourth day of April one thousand nine hundred and five (Pamphlet Laws two hundred ninety--nine) entitled "An act to amend sections five and six of an act entitled 'An act to provide for the better protection of life and health by diminishing the danger from infectious and contagious diseases through the creation of a State Board of Undertakers in cities of the first second and third classes with systematic examinations registration and licenses for all entering the business of burying the dead and penalties for violation of the provisions thereof' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five by extending the provisions of the said act throughout this Commonwealth and providing for the payment of the expenses thereof" by prescribing the qualifications and compensation of members of the State Board of Undertakers providing for employes of the board requiring applicants for undertakers' licenses to one year and providing for renewals thereof requiring undertakers' assistants to be registered and imposing certain duties on licensed undertakers in connection therewith and providing for the payment of the expenses of the board the auditing of its books and the disposition of funds remaining in its treasury.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, page 1, by striking out all on page 1 after the words "as amended" in line 11.

Amend title, page 2, by striking out the first 8 lines excepting the word "by" in line 8.

Amend section 2, page 4, line 23 by striking out the word "reads" and inserting in lieu thereof "read."

Amend section 3, page 5, line 25, by inserting "the" before "expenses."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to,

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

An Act authorizing a State Assocation of Township Supervisors and Township Commissioners and providing for the payment of the expenses thereof by the respective counties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GELDER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 3, page 2, line 6, by striking out "delegate" and inserting in lieu thereof "delegates."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1290, entitled:

An Act appropriating to the Department of Health any moneys to be received from the United States Government in the promotion of sanitation public health and health education and protection and care of maternity infancy and old age and the prevention treatment and care of disease

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Chester.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Chester, Mr. Long, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Chester explain, at the present time, to whom the moneys are paid that are received from the United States Government?

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, I introduced this bill at the request of the State Department of Health to make it legal for the money to be paid to them which is appropriated regularly for that purpose by the United States Government. It is money paid by the Government for the use of the State Department of Health, and it is necessary to have this act passed in order that they may receive the money. The money is for no other purpose except the purposes mentioned in this bill.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Why is not this money paid into the State Treasury?

Mr. LONG. The money is paid to the State Treasurer but they must have this act in order that they may eventually turn it over or pay it to the State Department of Health.

Mr. ALEXANDER. This act does not so provide: It provides that the money shall be paid to the Department of Health and that together with the moneys received hereafter by the State Treasurer that shall be appropriated to the State Department of Health. There is no way of creating in this act a check up with the board of health, or in the Legislature, in regard to what money is paid to the State Board of Health.

Mr. LONG. My understanding of the matter is as I have explained it.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Will you object to putting it on the postponed calendar until we make an investigation?

Mr. LONG. Yes, sir.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I think if the gentleman will read through Section 2, he will find that that is the only way the money can be paid out, and it is the same thing as the other appropriations paid to the State Department of Health

Mr. LONG. Mr. Speaker, this does not appropriate one cent of money of this Commonwealth, but simply permits the State Department of Health to be paid this money, specifically given to it by the United States Government.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1271, entitled:

An Act to amend clause (b) of section five of an act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and nine) entitled "An act relating to the organization maintenance and operation of the Banking Department and the scope of its supervision and control over corporations partnerships unincorporated associations and individuals and the assets and liabilities thereof providing penalties for the enforcement of its provisions and repealing certain acts"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House, this happens to be one of those bills which raises the salaries of the men in the departments and it does not raise the salary of the fellow down at the bottom, but the fellows toward the top. It raises the salary of the first assistant deputy from five to six thousand dollars; the second from four to five thousand, and the third from three to four thousand.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, it is quite evident that the gentleman who has called the attention of the House to the fact that this bill raises salaries has not read the bill. If he had he would find that this is an amendment of the Act relating to the Banking Department of 1919. Now that act provides that the Banking Department shall be self supporting and the money that comes into the Banking Department will be used to pay this increase in salary which is deemed by the Commissioner perfectly proper in view of the work that these men do. They work not only in the day time but also at night and when it comes down to the man at the other end of whom my friend from Cambria speaks so affectionately about he is informed that the fixing of salaries is done by the Commissioner and the Governor of the State and are paid from the receipts of the Department. This does not take a dollar from the State Treasury.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, in reply to my good friend from Philadelphia, I would say that the fees that are paid into the State are not paid into the Insurance Department but are paid into the State Treasury and these salaries are paid regardless of where the money comes from and I did not notice it was an amendment.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, again I call the gentleman's attention to the fact that he has not read the act of 1919. That act provides that these fees shall be paid into the State Treasury and marked to the credit of the Banking Department. They are not received from the State Treasury as an appropriation at all.

NAYS—2.

Bolard,	Comerer,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1366, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the eighteenth day of July Anno Domini, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (P. L. 345), entitled "An act to fix the salaries of the supervising inspectors of the second grade and of the Chief of the Bureau of Mediation and Arbitration in the Department of Labor and Industry."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DAWSON. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title lines 3 and 4 by striking out the following: "three hundred and forty-five" and inserting in lieu thereof "one thousand and sixty-one"

Amend section 1 page 1 line 6 by striking out the following: "three hundred and forty-five" and inserting in lieu thereof "one thousand and sixty-one"

Amend section 1 page 2 line 5 by inserting after "mediation" the words "and arbitration"

Amend line 13 by inserting word "five" instead of "six"

Amend line 14 by inserting "five thousand" instead of "six thousand"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1359, entitled:

An Act authorizing certain heads of departments of the State Government to increase the compensation of employes and prescribing a limit to said increase

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, this is a bill that is in its nature a salary raiser for which I have a great deal of sympathy. It reaches those lower in the employment of the State, but we should not vote for this bill until someone has fixed how many it reaches, the increase, the number of people involved and the departments included. In other words, it may be a very meritorious piece of legislation, but I do not feel like voting upon it until someone has given us full information. I understand that the sponsor is not here, but mine is a general question, and if someone else can give us that information we might vote in favor of it with a good heart.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. BRENDLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1299, entitled:

An act to amend section one of an act, approved the seventeenth day of June, Anno Domini, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and seven), entitled "An act to provide revenue for State and county purposes, and in cities co-extensive with counties, for city and county purposes; imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property; providing for the assessment and collection of the same; providing for the duties and compensation of prothonotaries and recorders in connection therewith; and modifying existing legislation which provided for raising revenue for State purposes," as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. STRAUSS. Mr. Speaker, this is the same bill which we defeated as being unconstitutional some time ago. The only difference is that in that bill it was ten dollars for the original writ while in this bill it is but five. That still makes it unconstitutional. Under the Bill of Rights the Constitution provides that all courts shall be open and justice shall be administered without hindrance or delay. Under that Article also this bill is clearly unconstitutional, and I shall ask the members of the House to vote against it as I did the other time.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. OGLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. CLUTTON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order for the purpose of amendment from page 28 of today's calendar bills on third reading, House Bill No. 1283, (Senate Bill No. 154), file folio 1691.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1283, (Senate Bill No. 154), entitled:

An Act relating to the preparation of a new Constitution of the Commonwealth by a convention and its adoption or rejection by the people and making an appropriation

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend section 9, page 6, line 12 by inserting after the word "in" the words "at least"

Amend section 14, line 24, by inserting after the word "convention" the words "the necessary printing and binding, which shall be done by the Department of Public Printing and Binding on the order of the Chairman"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I also ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

That section seven be amended by striking out the entire section and substituting therefor the following:

"Section 7. That the twenty-five delegates at large shall be nominated by the voters of state at large at the primary election for the year 1921. Names of candidates for nomination shall be printed upon the official ballot of each political party upon the filing of nomination petitions in their behalf in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth at least forty days before the date of said primary. Such nomination petitions shall be of the number, character and form required by law for the nomination of candidates for the office of Governor, and shall be certified to the county commissioners in the same manner as in other state offices. Each elector voting at such primary shall be entitled to vote for eighteen candidates for delegate at large and the fifteen candidates of any political party receiving the largest number of votes at said primary election, shall be the nominees of such party for delegates at large and said vote shall be canvassed and returned from the several counties as in the case of other state officers to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, who shall compile and count the vote of the state at large and certify the candidates nominated to the county commissioners of the several counties for printing upon the election ballots and at the election each elector shall be entitled to vote for eighteen candidates and said election shall be conducted, counted and returned as in the case of other state officers."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection?

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendment.

Mr. STRAUSS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER. The "noes" appear to have it—

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, before announcing your decision on the vote, I would like to say briefly that these amendments which I have offered to this bill provide for a—

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walker, will state his point of order.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that there is nothing in order but the announcement of the vote.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, this bill came before the House. The gentleman from Philadelphia then offered his amendments, and then I asked for unanimous consent to further amend the bill, and I was explaining my position.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Elk will proceed.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, may I have a ruling on my point of order? It is simply this,—that the gentleman from Elk should have offered to the House what suggestions he had at the time he presented his amendments. That passed by, and the House has voted on this subject, and the only question thereafter is the ruling of the Chair on the vote.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I submit that has not yet been made by the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair had not yet announced the vote and recognized the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Flynn.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. But, Mr. Speaker, the vote had been taken.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, the vote has not been concluded. I can yet ask for a rollcall or the "yeas" and "nays" or for a division.

The SPEAKER. The Chair takes the position that as long as the decision on the vote was not announced, the question is debatable.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Glass, will state his point of order.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the remarks of the gentleman from Elk are out of order because the Chair had called for the "yeas" and "nays" and had already commenced to announce that the "nays" had it and therefore there could be nothing in order but the calling for a division or a rollcall, but no comments on the bill.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I call for the "yeas" and "nays."

The SPEAKER. The announcement by the Chair was that the "nays" appeared to have it, but no decision had been given. The vote was not decided.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, the Chair had practically commenced to announce the vote and nothing further could be done other than to entertain a call for a division or a rollcall, that and nothing further. The Chair having already started to announce the vote, the Chair could not entertain any other business.

The Chair rules that the gentleman from Elk had been recognized and that the gentleman from Elk has a right to speak on the amendments at this time.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I have offered certain amendments to this bill which is the bill providing for the constitutional convention, Senate Bill No. 154. The purpose of my amendment is to provide for the election of delegates instead of providing, as in this bill, that twenty-five delegates be appointed by the Governor; that they shall be elected in the State at large. That is the purpose of the amendment and I wish to submit to the House that this is one of the most important provisions of this entire program for amending the Constitution. It is my desire to support this bill, but I cannot do so if twenty-five members, out of the total of a little more than one hundred members, are to be appointed by the Governor. I believe that the revision of the Constitutional law of this State should only be done through a body elected by the people, and, therefore, I offered an amendment to make this body elective instead of appointive.

On the question recurring,

Shall the House resolve itself into the Committee of the Whole for the purpose of special amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Flynn and Mr. Strauss and were as follows:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1069, entitled:

An Act declaring it unlawful for officers or directors of building and loan associations to accept commissions payments gifts and things of value to procure mortgage or stock loans

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HOWARD SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend by striking out the entire title and insert in lieu thereof the following:

AN ACT

Declaring it a misdemeanor to stipulate for or receive or consent or agree to receive fees, commissions, gifts or things of value for procuring or endeavoring to procure loans or the purchase or discount of negotiable paper or other evidence of debt of any bank trust company savings bank co-operative banking association building and loan association unincorporated partnership or association doing a business in the nature of a building and loan association or any person partnership association or corporation receiving money on deposit to stipulate for or receive or consent or agree to receive any fee commission gift or thing of value for procuring or endeavoring to procure for any person copartnership association or corporation any loan from or the purchase or discount of any negotiating paper or other evidence of debt by such bank trust company savings bank co-operative banking association building and loan association unincorporated partnership or association doing a business in the nature of a building and loan association or any person partnership association or corporation receiving money on deposit.

Amend section 1, page 1, by striking out lines 5 to 11 inclusive and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

This act shall not apply to any conveyancer or solicitor who is not a director of a bank, trust company, savings bank co-operative banking association or building and loan association.

Amend section 1, page 1, line 4, by striking out the words "or director" and inserting in lieu thereof "director or clerk"

Amend section 1, page 2, line 3 by striking out the word "five" and inserting in lieu thereof "ten"

Amend section 1, page 2, line 5 by striking out the word "three" and inserting in lieu thereof "twelve"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 254, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the sixth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and forty-seven) entitled "An act requiring all counties cities boroughs townships school districts and other municipalities and incorporated districts to sell any bonds or other securities issued by them to the highest responsible bidder after due public notice" making the provisions of the act also applicable to poor districts regulating the publication of such notices and the manner of receiving opening and announcing bids providing for statement as to publication etc. to be filed by the chief officers of any such municipality in the office of the Clerk of the Court of Quarter Sessions one week before issue or delivery of any such bond obligation or security providing penalty for failure to do so and providing that securities sold in violation of the act shall be void.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, the bill before us is an amendment to a borough law. It is in regard to advertising. To my mind the present law as it stands is ample and the amendment is unnecessary and is altogether too technical. The law, as it now stands regarding advertising, reads as follows: "Shall be advertised once a week for three weeks in at least one newspaper of general circulation." It amends as far as the advertising is concerned to "once a week for three weeks and each notice shall be in three successive newspaper publications at seven day intervals." Suppose the daily paper publications slip one in a series of advertising, the act says seven days interval." That is altogether too technical. On the next page the amendment reads, "In case there is a slip the bonds issued would be void." Gentlemen of the House, we don't believe in the borough practive that that amendment is necessary, and as one of those interested in boroughs and who has been for many years, I hope the bill will be voted down and permit the law to stand as it now is.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will inform the gentleman that the last folio number of that bill is 1849 and that it is incorrect on the calendar, which gives 1595. If there is no objection we will pass the bill over.

Mr. BOLARD. Is the proper file folio on the files?

The SPEAKER. I presume it is.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. BOLARD. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1260, entitled:

An Act to provide for the planting and care of shade trees along the streets and highways of cities and providing for the collection of the cost thereof and other costs incidental thereto from the owners of property abutting on such streets and highways.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz.:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1350, entitled:

An Act to increase the pay of Jurors and Witnesses in this Commonwealth

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill in order to make a request.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sowers, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, knowing that the jurors in this State are paid a very low compensation for their services, would it be agreeable to the gentleman from Philadelphia to amend this bill to make the pay of jurors higher? It is far too low, and I think it is a great hardship for jurors to attend court at three dollars a day in most of the counties and I would like to see it put to a higher figure.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, this bill was handed to me by the District Attorney's office in Philadelphia. The object they wanted to accomplish was to fix the mileage at actual railroad rates. It really makes no change in the pay of the juror or in the pay of the witness. It makes it possible to correct an evil that exists. In a recent murder case tried in Philadelphia where witnesses were brought from seventeen to eighteen hundred miles, it was found that their mileage did not pay for their actual railroad expenses. I think a majority of this House have suggested to me that the jurors' fee should be raised to four dollars and that meets with my approval, and if it meets with your approval, I am in favor of moving to place the bill on the postponed calendar so that the amendment can be made.

Mr. HORNE. Mr. Speaker, that is very agreeable to me. I don't want to hinder the passage of the bill; I am very much in favor of it and hope that in our county that may be the law.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. KRAUSE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

MOTION TO PLACE BILL ON CALENDAR.

Mr. CHAPLIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Committee of Public Roads be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 1378, entitled:

An Act to amend part of Section Six of an act approved the thirty-first day of May, Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven, entitled "An act providing for the establishment of a State Highway Department, by the appointment of a State Highway Commissioner, two Deputy State Highway Commissioners, chief engineer, chief draughtsman, superintendents of highways, and a staff of assistants and employes; defining their duties and the jurisdiction of the State Highway Department, and fixing salaries of commissioners and deputies and other appointees; providing for taking over from the counties or townships of the Commonwealth certain existing public roads connecting county-seats, principal cities, and towns and extending to the State line; describing and defining same by route numbers as the State Highways of the Commonwealth; providing for the improvement, maintenance and repair of said State Highways solely at the expense of the Commonwealth, and relieving the several townships or counties from any further obligation and expense to improve the same, and relieving said townships or counties of authority over same; requiring boroughs and incorporated towns to maintain certain State Highways wholly and in part; requiring the State Highways Commissioner to make maps to be complete records thereof; conferring authority on the State Highway Commissioner; providing for the payment of damages in taking of property, or otherwise, in the improvement thereof; providing for purchase or acquiring of turnpikes or toll-roads forming all or part of any State Highway, and procedure therein; providing for work of improvement of State Highways to be done by contract, except where the State Highway commissioner decides the work to be done by State; providing aid by the State to counties and townships desiring the same in the improvement of township or county roads; defining highways and State-aid highways; providing method of application for State aid in the improvement, maintenance and repair of township or county roads and prescribing the contents of township, county, borough, or incorporated town petitions; providing for percentage of cost of improvement or repairs to be paid by State, county, township, borough, or incorporated town, and requiring contracts by counties, townships, boroughs, and incorporated towns with Commonwealth governing same; providing for the minimum width of State Highways and State-aid highways, and kind of materials to be used in the improvement; providing for payment fo cost of improvement and repairs; providing penalty for injuring or destroying State Highways; making appropriations to carry out the provisions of the act; and providing for the repeal of certain acts relating to Highways Department and improvement of roads, and of all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith; and providing that existing contracts are not affected by provisions of this act" as amended

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, under Rule 57, this resolution is out of order, this bill not having been in the Public Roads Committee ten days.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken, and the motion is not in order.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1334, as follows:

An Act to repeal section two of an act entitled "An act for the protection of the public health by providing that persons firms or corporations who are operating or conducting hotels restaurants dining-cars or other public eating-places in this Commonwealth shall not employ or keep in their employ as cooks waiters kitchen-help chambermaids or other house-servants any person or persons who are suffering from trachoma active tuberculosis of the lungs open skin tuberculosis syphilis gonorrhea open external cancer or barber's itch or who are carriers of typhoid fever and further providing that no dishes receptacles or utensile used in eating or drinking shall be furnished to patrons or customers of any such public eating-place unless the same have been thoroughly cleansed since used by another individual and further providing that no towels shall be furnished in any wash-room in connection with any such public eating-place unless such towels be laundered or discarded after each individual use and further providing that no common drinking-cups shall be furnished at any public drinking-place operated in connection with any such public eating-place and providing penalties for violations of the provisions of this act" approved May twenty-eighth one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and forty-two)

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1380, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of an act approved the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, (P. L. 706), entitled "An act requiring the county commissioners to provide, at the expense of the county, a telephone, typewriter, and stenographer for the use of the county superintendent of schools."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. FRANKLIN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, this bill provides for the furnishing by the county commissioners of each county of a stenographer to the county superintendents. I spoke to the sponsor of this bill a few days ago, and I was in hopes that he would not bring it before this House. I am in favor of education as much as any member of this House, but there is one thing that we must get in mind and the sooner we get it I think the better for the school districts of the State, and that is cutting out the padding of jobs in our school districts. I know a county in the western part of this State that has a county superintendent and two assistants that are paid close to ten thousand dollars a year, that do not do as much work as one man did ten years ago in that county. I am in favor of giving the teachers the salaries they are entitled to. We are called upon to raise additional revenue, and when we get home we meet a shower of protest because of the additional salary raisers we are passing here and the additional taxes which we are imposing upon the people at home. Now then we come along with a lot of legislation of this kind padding additional jobs for which we have no more use than we have for five wheels in an automobile. I am opposed to this bill for that reason. Let us use this money to pay the teachers and let the superintendents in those counties where they have more now than they need to take care of their own office work and put the money where it will bring real results.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Marshall.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MARSHALL. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, is a stenographer employed for the county superintendent of your county?

Mr. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, so far as I know we have no stenographer furnished by the county, and from my personal observation they have very little need for one.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman further. How many assistants do you have?

Mr. MARSHALL. We have two assistants. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Butler, Mr. Woner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Butler, Mr. Woner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WONER. Yes, sir.

Mr. MARSHALL. During our conversation between here and Pittsburgh, did you or did you not express yourself to me as to the need of this bill.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, I am in favor of this bill.

Mr. MARSHALL. Did you or did you not express yourself in reply to my expression as to whether or not you thought the stenographer was really needed and as to whether or not there were more assistants in a great many counties than were needed today.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, I stated to the gentleman and I want to say to this House tonight, we have a matter here in bill No. 1016, a proposal to pay the assistant county superintendent twenty-five hundred dollars a year. At the present time we pay them eighteen hundred dollars a year. The superintendents in the counties get salaries varying in size. In my particular county they get—

Mr. MARSHALL. Mr. Speaker, I insist that my question be answered. If the gentleman will answer my question, I will yield him the floor. Did the gentleman or did he not say he did not think it was necessary to have the assistants we have today.

Mr. WONER. Mr. Speaker, I will make this statement. I do not recall that I made a statement of that kind.

I asked the courtesy of this House to put this on the postponed calendar that I might amend it, and I regret very much that you are unwilling to permit me to do that.

In reply to the gentleman from Butler, Mr. Marshall, I brought out that there are two assistant county superintendents in his county. There is one superintendent and he means to stand before this House and say that it is good business to pay a man twenty-five hundred dollars a year to remain in his office to do clerical work, that could be done very well by a stenographer who would be paid a much less sum than twenty-five hundred dollars a year. My thought concerning this whole matter is this: If it is worth while to pay a man to be an assistant county superintendent, it is worth while to have somebody to do the detail work in his office, that he may be relieved from the necessity of remaining in that office and neglecting his work out in the field in order that he may do clerical work. The assistant to the superintendent in the counties of the State of Pennsylvania where they do not supply a stenographer voluntarily, a thing that they do in most counties, those assistants are compelled to do merely clerical work, which is entirely beneath their salaries, and also their intelligence. Therefore, I think that it would be a far better matter to do away with some of the assistant county superintendents and put stenographers in their places if you are going to make any distinction between the two.

Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar. I desire to amend it.

Mr. ARMSTRONG. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

ADDRESS BY HON. GEORGE E. ALTER.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Attorney General, the ex-Speaker of this House, the Hon. George E. Alter, be requested to address the House.

Mr. CHARLES P. DEWEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to,

The SPEAKER. The Chair is delighted to call upon the distinguished present Attorney General of the State, and I am sure that he will gladly stand in his old place and address the members of this House.

HON. GEORGE E. ALTER. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House, this is an honor entirely unexpected at this time. I hope when I come into the House from time to time to spend a little time that you will never look upon me and think of me as the Attorney General, but always as a former member of this House who loves to be among you. I have spent many happy hours at this desk. I have spent many anxious moments at this desk. Some of you now, when I meet you, call me "General." I do not like that. I do like the office which I now hold, but I do not like the title which sounds like a military title which I do not deserve. Some of you, when I meet you, call me "Speaker," and I love that, and I will always like that title better than any to which I am entitled. I noticed you are working hard on third reading. Over in my department we are working equally as hard on fourth reading. Some bills are passing on fourth reading, some are being defeated, some are being put on the postponed calendar for amendment, but I do hope and sincerely believe that throughout this session the relations between this House and our department will continue as harmonious and pleasant as they have been thus far during the session, and that when the session closes, we will all feel that we have done our best for the Commonwealth. I thank you.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is very grateful to the ex-Speaker of the House, and on behalf of the House takes pleasure in thanking him. The Chair has already notified the ex-Speaker to always occupy this seat to the left of the desk when he comes in here among us for the purpose of observing our proceedings.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1339, entitled:

An Act authorizing boroughs to enact ordinances prohibiting heavy traffic on certain paved streets.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Mr. BRADY asked and received unanimous consent to call up from page 21 of today's calendar, bills on third reading, House Bill No. 1231.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1231, entitled:

An Act providing for the taxation modification remission and collection of all fees received by the several prothonotaries and the several clerks of the court of this Commonwealth.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. BRADY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, line 3, by striking out the word "court" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "courts"; amend section 1, line 5, by striking out the word "court" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "courts".

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. CHARLES P. DEWEY. Mr. Speaker, I move the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 10.35 P. M.), the House adjourned until to-morrow morning at 11.00 o'clock

Legislative Journal.

Session 1921 — 124th of the General Assembly

Vol. 6. HARRISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, APRIL 14, 1921 No. 46.

SENATE

THURSDAY, April 14, 1921.

The Senate met at 10 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (F. E. Baldwin) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Rev. J. T. Davis offered the following prayer:

Almighty God, Father, who rules and reigns in indescribable glory, who gave to the earth man, with his wisdom and knowledge, create in all our hearts and minds the disposition that was found in David when he said "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and all that is within me bless His holy name. Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all His benefits." May each and all of us have the same disposition in mind and act that was manifested from the great son of our God. May these acts and thoughts permeate in every character and activity that we find ourselves engaged in, until the world shall find in us the spirit of God, and the great handiwork by our lives through the lives of others, until the world shall be made better, and all those who reside therein shall be lifted to a higher plane of right living and thinking. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present, the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. CRAIG, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

HOUSE MESSAGE.

RESOLUTION RELATING TO PENSIONS FOR STATE, COUNTY AND MUNICIPAL OFFICERS AND EMPLOYES UPON THEIR RETIREMENT.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives, being introduced, presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was twice read as follows:

Whereas at each session of the Legislature bills are introduced for the pupose of providing pensions for State county and municipal officers and employes upon their retirement from office many of these bills imposing a mandatory obligation upon the State counties and municipalities and

Whereas the Legislature cannot during the busy weeks of its session ascertain the conditions and facts surrounding these demands and deal fairly with those who would receive the benefit of legislation of this class and also with the taxpayers whose money is appropriated and

Whereas the existing pension laws for State county and municipal officers and employes differ greatly as to conditions under which benefits can be granted and as to the methods by which the necessary revenues are obtained and

Whereas it is the sense of the members of this Legislature that all public pension funds should be placed on a sound uniform and equitable basis under a fixed State policy therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That a commission of five members be appointed two by the President of the Senate and three by the Speaker of the House to be known as the "Public Service Pension Commission" to make a survey of all pension and retirement funds for the officers and employes of the State and the various county and municipal governments to investigate the question of the desirability of establishing a uniform equitable system of retiring State county and municipal employes and whether a proper standard can be established for fixing the basis of such pensions to the end that all shall be dealt with fairly the said commission to report their findings together with any recommendations thereon at the next session of the Legislature and

That the members of said commission shall serve without compensation and the expenses of said commission shall be limited to five thousand ($5,000) dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary and that the same be provided for in the next general appropriation bill

Mr. EYRE. Mr. President, I move that the resolution just read be referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

THURSDAY, April 14, 1921.

The House met at 11 o'clock A. M.
The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler) in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. W. H. Feldmann, offered the following prayer:

O Thou Lord and Ruler of all things, we are reminded that fifty and six years ago today there was laid low by the hand of the assassin that great throbbing heart that led our nation through the darkest vale that it has ever been called upon to enter. And when the country and the flag were safe and it could no longer strike them, it aimed its deadly blow at him who loved it as none other had until then; and when his proffered hand of friendship and forgiveness was extended, it spewed forth its venom of hate. And lest we should forget that that spirit is not yet dead, the shades of Garfield and McKinley come before our minds, reminding us that the same brewed drink of the same deadly cup of malignity, fed upon the same brand of violence, still exist.

Grant, then, that our Chief Executive may enjoy Thy especial care and blessing. Enable him to secure a just peace, to promote prosperity and to establish friendliness with all nations and within our own nation. And may every cause for discontent be taken away, so that the hymn of hate shall not be sung and the gospel of violence preached no more. Bless Thou him and bless Thou the land, and spare us from any untoward catastrophe.

We ask it all in Thy name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday's proceedings, when, on the motion of Mr. JOSEPH C. MARCUS, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

RESOLUTION MAKING APPROPRIATION BILLS FIRST ORDER OF BUSINESS.

Mr. HESS presented the following resolution from the Committee on Rules, which was twice read, considered and adopted:

Resolved, That all appropriation bills shall, after the fourteenth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one, be the first order on the first reading, second reading and third reading calendars of each day.

A. B. Hess, Chairman,
Duncan Sinclair,
John M. Flynn,
Hugh Dawson,
George W. Williams.

RESOLUTION TO INVESTIGATE CHARGES MADE BY HON. SAMUEL S. LEWIS.

Mr. STRAUSS offered a resolution, which was twice read as follows:

RESOLUTION.

Whereas, Samuel S. Lewis, Auditor General-elect of the Commonwealth in a recent address before certain members of this House declared that funds of the Commonwealth had been used to pay expense accounts when in his opinion said expense accounts could not be lawfully paid, and that after he became Auditor General he proposed to consult the Attorney General, and if his opinion was sustained by the Attorney General he proposed to proceed to recover back into the treasury the money expended on these expense accounts; and

Whereas, in the same address he declared that persons were drawing pay without authority of law, and that others were drawing more pay than the law authorized;

Therefore, be it resolved; That a committee of five members of this House be appointed by the Speaker to investigate the charges made by the said Samuel S. Lewis which said committee shall hold public hearings and shall have power to summon witnesses and require their attendance and to require the production of books, papers and records in the hands of state officers and employes, that said committee shall report the facts to this House not later than Monday, April 25, 1921.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be printed and lie over under the rules.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTION NO. 8.

Mr. VICKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire at this time to call up Resolution No. 8, File Folio No. 4477, and move its adoption.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

Whereas at each session of the Legislature bills are introduced for the purpose of providing pensions for State county and municipal officers and employes upon their retirement from office many of these bills imposing a mandatory obligation upon the State counties and municipalities and

Whereas the Legislature cannot during the busy weeks of its session ascertain the conditions and facts surrounding these demands and deal fairly with those who would receive the benefit of legislation of this class and also with the taxpayer whose money is appropriated and

Whereas the existing pension laws for State county and municipal officers and employes differ greatly as to conditions under which benefits can be granted and as to the methods by which the necessary revenues are obtained and

Whereas it is the sense of the members of this Legislature that all public pension funds should be placed on a sound uniform and equitable basis under a fixed State policy therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That a commission of five members be appointed two by the President of the Senate and three by the Speaker of the House to be known as the "Public Service Pension Commission" to make a survey of all pension and retirement funds for the officers and employes of the State and the various county and municipal governments to investigate the question of the desirability of establishing a uniform equitable system of retiring State county and municipal employes and whether a proper standard can be established for fixing the basis of such pensions to the end that all shall be dealt with fairly the said commission to report their findings together with any recommendations thereon at the next session of the Legislature and

That the members of said commission shall serve without compensation and the expenses of said commission shall be limited to five thousand ($5,000) dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary and that the same be provided for in the next general appropriation bill

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.?

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1431, as follows:

An Act to regulate the drilling operating and abandoning of oil and gas wells and providing a penalty for violation of the provisions of this act

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That upon abandoning or ceasing to operate any well or wells which shall have been drilled or put down on lands within this Commonwealth for the purpose of exploring for or producing oil or gas the person firm or corporation drilling or owning the wells shall plug said wells in the following manner First Fill up the well with sand and rock sediment to a point twenty (20) feet above the top of the lowest oil or gas bearing strata or formation encountered and drive a round seasoned wooden plug at least three (3) feet in length equal in diameter to the diameter of the well below the casing and shall in like manner keep plugging and filling until all producing sands have been plugged when a final plug must be anchored approximately ten (10) feet below the bottom of the largest casing and filled in with such an amount of rock or rock sediment that may be necessary to completely shut off any water bearing sands or strata said fill however shall in no event be less than thirty (30) feet in length All plugs used in said wells shall be well seasoned round wooden plugs of the diameter of the well at the point at which said plug shall be located they shall be at least three (3) feet in length and the lower end thereof tapered for a distance of eighteen (18) inches In abandoning any well which has been drilled through marketable coal after the inside casing has been drawn there shall be placed a two (2) inch vent pipe extending from a point thirty (30) feet below the coal bed for a distance of eighty (80) feet in heigth said pipe to be encased in cement after which the outside casing may be drawn

Section 2 Before any operator owner lessee or other person in charge of any well shall proceed to plug the same it shall be his or their duty to give at least ten (10) days notice in writing delivered to the nearest operator owner lessee or person in charge of adjoining wells that the well designated in said notice will be plugged whereupon at the time designated in said notice the nearest adjoining operator owner or lessee or their representatives shall be authorized and empowered to be present for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not said well is plugged in accordance with the terms of this act and in the event that a dispute shall arise as to the manner of plugging it shall be the duty of the person in charge of the well to be plugged to cease all operations and serve at least ten (10) days notice on the Department of Labor and Industry at Harrisburg that a dispute has arisen as to the manner of plugging of the proposed abandoned well whereupon it shall be the duty of the Department of Labor and Industry to send a representative to the well in dispute and the said well shall be thereupon plugged in accordance with the instructions of the representative of said department

Section 3 Whenever the production of any gas well is not sufficient in the estimation of the owner to justify leaving the casing or casings in the well the well may be utilized through tubing placed on a packer and after cement and sand has been poured on the packer to a depth of not less than ten (10) feet the casing or casings may be pulled and the hole outside of the tubing filled with sand cement rock sediment clay or other material to a point at least thirty (30) feet above the highest producing sand so as to completely shut off all water from the various sands after which the casing may be drawn Upon the abandonment of such gas well if a plug or bridge shall be placed in the tubing at a point near the depth at which the packer was set and cement and sand poured in on said plug or bridge to a depth of not less than thirty (30) feet it shall be held a compliance with the provisions of this act relating to plugging and abandoning of wells

Section 4 The owner or operator of any well or wells which produce oil or gas from the strata known as the "Bradford Sand" shall be permitted to allow such wells to remain open for the purpose of introducing air water or other liquid pressure upon said "Bradford Sand" for the purpose of recovering oil and gas contained therein provided that the introduction of such pressure of air water or other liquid into said "Bradford Sand" shall be through casing or tubing which shall be so anchored and packed that no other oil or gas bearing sand above said "Bradford Sand" shall be affected by the introduction of such pressure

Section 5 The owner or operotor of any well productive of oil or gas in paying quantities shall have the right to give written notice to any other owner or operator who may be about to drill or may be drilling a well within one (1) mile of said productive well that the well about to be drilled or being drilled will penetrate the same sand or strata as that from which said productive well obtains its production and said owner of the well being drilled or about to be drilled shall case off all water found therein in case said water cannot be bailed out of the hole while drilling with the use of an extension bailor after the service of said notice so far as to prevent the entry of said water into the sand or strata from which the oil or gas is obtained in said oil or gas well No such notice shall be of any effect unless given before the sand to be protected shall have been penetrated by the well about to be drilled or at the time being drilled

Section 6 The willful permitting of any oil or gas well to remain uncapped or the willful opening of any valve to admit air in a gas pumped territory in which the gas pressure is less than atmospheric pressure is declared to be a misdemeanor and is hereby prohibited and in case any well in such territory is opened for the purpose of cleaning repairing drawing tubing drawing rods abandoning et cetera the same must not remain open continuously for a longer period than twelve (12) hours unless work in connection with cleaning et cetera is being conducted more than twelve (12) consecutive hours

Section 7 Any person firm or corporation or the agents thereof who shall violate any of the provisions of this act shall upon conviction thereof be sentenced to pay a fine of not to exceed one thousand ($1,000.00) dollars or undergo an imprisonment not to exceed one (1) year The fine imposed under this section shall be applied to the use of the school district in which such well may be situated

Section 8 Whenever any owner or operator shall neglect or refuse to comply with the provisions of this act the owner of or operator upon any land adjoining or contiguous thereto that upon which such violation may occur may enter take possession of said abandoned well and plug or cap it as provided by this act and recover the expense thereof in an action or tort against the owner or operator whose duty it may have been to comply with the provisions of this act

QUESTION OF INFORMATION.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise at this time for a point of instruction in regard to Bill No. 1157. Two bills on the mine cave question were reported from the Committee on Mines and Mining last evening, to be reported rather this morning. House Bill No. 1156 has been reported out but we cannot discover who had Bill No. 1157 to report before the House. We canvassed the committee and we are unable to locate the person who has Bill No. 1157. It is useless to pass Bill No. 1156 unless Bill No. 1157 accompanies it, they are companion bills. We believe that perhaps the bill is lost, and the point I would like to know Mr. Speaker, is what procedure would I follow to have a reprint of the bill, so that there would be no time lost.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would instruct the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Fowler, that before the bill is in the possession of the House, the bill must be reported to the House by the Committee. The bill must be in the hands of the Committee. The Chair would advise ascertaining from the members of the Committee where that bill is and if it is definitely ascertained that the bill is lost there can be a substitute.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the Chairman of the Committee what disposal was made of the bill.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, at the meeting of the Committee last evening, the three bills were discussed and after much argument pro and con were reported out with an affirmative recommendation. I do not remember myself who got the bills, I was so disgusted with the way the Committee was working that I gave the bills out to members of the Committee and I do not have a record. I do not know whether the Secretary of the Commiteee has a record or not. I would ask Mr. James A. Walker whether he has a record or not.

Mr. JAMES A. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I made a record last night of what happened. I do not have that record here, it is in my desk in the other room. I will examine it as soon as I have leasure and before the adjournment of the House and find out what my records show.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I would ask for a suspension of five minutes until we find out.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that that request is unnecessary at this time and the Chair can see no necessity for this proceeding to find out what member of the Committee has the bill in his possession and the Chair would counsel against such action.

Mr. SCHAEFFER. Mr. Speaker, as a member of the Mines and Mining Committee, if my memory serves me right, I think the Chairman gave the bill to Mr. Alexander. I do not know whether Mr. Alexander has the bill or not.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, as a member of the Committee on Mines and Mining and having been present at this meeting, my memory confirms the memory of the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Schaeffer. The bill was handed to Mr. Alexander.

Mr. JEREMIAH J. MILLER. Mr. Speaker, my memory too confirms the memory of the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Schaeffer, that the bill was given to Mr. Alexander.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I think the three gentlemen who have just spoken do not recollect the last proceedings in the Committee. This bill was handed to me in the first instance with a negative recommendation. There was another bill in the Committee, a sister bill to this bill and a motion was made and carried to report that one with an affirmative recommendation. I tossed the bill back to the Chairman and I said. "If that bill, the other bill, is going out with an affirmative recommendation I cannot report that one with a negative recommendation." Now what became of them afterwards, I do not know. There was a motion to adjourn and we defeated the motion to adjourn, and I do not know what became of them afterwards.

Mr. GLASS. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that that bill was supposed to have been reported with an affirmative recommendation as was stated by the Chairman of the Committee and other members, I therefore move you that this House permit a substitute bill or a copy of the original bill to be reported as committed.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that the Committee hold another meeting and determine what action they desire to take with respect to this measure. It appears that the minds of the members of the Committee do not meet with reference to what they did, and before we take any action the Chair would instruct the Committee to find out what it desires to do itself first.

Mr. SCHAEFFER. Mr. Speaker, the statement made by the gentleman from Delaware is correct, that the bill was referred to him to be reported out with a negative recommendation in the first place. That motion was rescinded and he threw the bill back to the Chairman of the Committee, and after another action had been taken on the bill to report the bill out as committed, if my memory serves me right, as I stated before, the Chairman of the Committee threw the bill over to Mr. Alexander, to report the bill out. It may be lying in the Committee room. I do not know. I do not know where the bill is, but I think the bill was referred to Mr. Alexander to have it reported out this morning.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would suggest that the bill is not before the House at this time. The matter is entirely within the province of the committee unless the bill is reported out.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, if it is agreeable to the House and also to the members of the Committee, I will call a committee meeting immediately after adjournment and take action upon this matter.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Harer.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Harer, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, yes sir.

Mr. FOWLER. If there was a recess of five minutes would the gentleman be satisfied to have the Committee meet in that five minutes?

Mr. HARER. That is up to the Speaker of the House.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I would make that request for a recess of five minutes.

The SPEAKER. This bill is not before the House, the whole proceeding here is irregular.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1340, as follows:

An Act to amend an act approved the fourteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws three hundred twelve) entitled "An act providing a system of government for boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" authorizing boroughs to define and punish disorderly conduct

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That chapter five article one section two of an act approved the fourteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws three hundred twelve) entitled "An act providing a system of government for boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" is hereby amended by adding thereto the following clause which shall be known as clause forty-four

XLIV To adopt ordinances defining disorderly conduct within the limits of the borough and to provide in such ordinances for the imposition of penalties for the violation thereof

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 729, entitled:

An Act providing a system whereby persons absent from their regular polling places may cast their votes; imposing certain powers and duties upon the county commissioners, prothonotaries, return boards of the various counties, and the board of registration commissions in cities of the first and second class in relation thereto; and providing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk for information.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend section 5, page 3, line 20 by inserting after the words "absent voter's ballots" the following: "The number of such absent voter's ballots printed for each district shall be equal to ten per centum of the number of registered voters in such district"

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendment at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the amendment will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1323, as follows:

An Act to amend section two of an act approved the twenty-fifth day of April one thousand nine hundred and three (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and four) entitled "An act to further regulate the construction maintenance and inspection of buildings and party walls in cities of the first class"

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section two of an act approved the twenty-fifth day of April one thousand nine hundred and three (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and four) entitled "An act to further regulate the construction maintenance and inspection of buildings and party walls in cities of the first class" which reads as follows

"Section 2 Any building hereafter erected or altered to be used as a hospital asylum or institution for the care or treatment of persons the height of which exceeds two stories and every building hereafter erected or altered to be used as an apartment-house tenement-house flat-house lodging-house hotel school or police station the height of which exceeds four stories shall be a building of the first class and no building of any kind except as hereafter provided shall be erected or raised to a height exceeding sixty-five feet except the same be a building of the first or second class and no building shall be erected or raised to a height exceeding eighty-five feet except the same be a building of the first class and all buildings of a height exceeding six stories shall be buildings of the first class

All buildings of the first class hereafter erected or altered to be used for warehouse store or factory purposes shall be so divided by fire-proof walls or partitions on every floor except as hereinafter provided that no space on any floor not so divided shall exceed twenty-five thousand square feet and no existing wall or partition in any such building shall be removed so as to leave a space not so divided of more than twenty-five thousand square feet Such walls or partitions shall extend from the fire-proof construction of the floors to the fire-proof beam filling of the ceilings The openings or doorways in any such walls or partitions shall not exceed three in number for each floor for each such wall or partition and no such opening shall exceed ten feet in height or ten feet in width Each opening must be provided with two sets of standard fire-doors separated by the thickness of the wall or partition said doors to be constructed and hung as provided elsewhere in this act All of the said openings through partitions of fire-proof material shall have metal frames or studs securely fastened to floor and ceiling and such metal studs shall be covered with such fire resisting materials as shall be approved by the Bureau of Building Inspection No wood for framing or fastening shall be used for such openings Provided however That the space or spaces of the first or grade floor of any such buildings may exceed twenty-five thousand square feet when the entire building is under the protection of an approved system of automatic sprinklers so long as such system shall be kept and maintained in complete working order If such system shall not be maintained and kept in such order it shall be the duty of the Bureau of Building Inspection to give written notice to the tenants or owners served upon the premises of said fact and within sixty days thereafter the division by fire-proof walls or partitions as above provided shall be made and thereafter maintained

No building shall be deemed a building of the first class unless the enclosing or division walls are wholly or in part supported on iron or steel beams girders and columns such beams girders and columns shall be protected against the external changes of the atmosphere and against fire by a covering of brick terra-cotta fire-clay tile or other approved fire-proofing completely enveloping said structural members of iron or steel Said fire-proofing around outside columns and beams if of brick shall not be less than eight inches if of hollow tile shall not be less than six inches thick and there shall be at least two sets of air spaces between the iron and steel members and the outside of the hollow tile covering In all cases the brick or hollow tile shall be bedded in cement mortar close up to the iron or steel members and all joints shall be made full and solid No building shall be deemed a fire-proof building unless in addition to the above required covering of the iron and steel members all the interior columns beams and girders be enveloped in such fire-resisting materials as shall be approved by the Bureau of Building Inspection The filling between the individual floor beams and girders shall be one of the fire-proof systems in use as approved by the Bureau of Building Inspection and must in every case have stood the test of three times the load for which the floor is designed without sign of cracking No wood or other inflammable material shall be used in any part of any such building except the doors and windows and their frames the trims the casings the interior finish when filled at the back with fire-proof materials and the floor boards and sleepers directly under the spaces between and under the sleepers must be filled up and leveled off at the top of the said sleepers with concrete or other incombustible material All interior columns and the lower flanges of all girders of iron or steel shall be protected with at least three inches of brick terra-cotta concrete or other fire-resisting materials as shall be approved by the Bureau of Building Inspection The web of all girders and the flanges and web of all beams to be protected by not less than two inches of terra-cotta brick concrete or other fire-proof material but the extreme outer edge of lugs brackets and similar supporting metal may project within one inch of the surface of the fire-proofing Where the bases of iron or steel columns are independent the said bases shall be either cast-steel thoroughly annealed or built-steel bolsters Built sections of girders or columns in which all parts are not accessible after erection shall be filled with concrete in the proportion of one part of Portland cement to three parts of sand and five parts of stone to pass a three-fourths of an inch mesh The maximum span for arches of brick terra-cotta concrete or other patent floors shall not exceed eight feet but nothing herein contained shall prohibit the use of reinforced concrete or hetrogenous systems provided the depth of the floor beams or girders is three-fifths of an inch per foot of span and that a test for strength and fire and water resistance satisfactory to the Bureau of Building Inspection shall be given for said reinforced or hetrogenous system No arch in any floor system shall have a rise of less than one and one-quarter inch per foot of span

In buildings of the first class all pipes conduits mains wiring and conveyances for conducting heat light or water shall be encased in separate fire-proof ducts and shall not be enclosed in the fire-proofing surrounding any column girder or beam of steel or iron

Provided also That this section shall not apply to one-story buildings used only for working in non-combustible materials and that nothing contained in this section shall prevent the erection of grain elevators church spires towers for observation purposes and structures for similar uses all of which structures shall be constructed in such manner and under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Bureau of Building Inspection" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 2 Any building hereafter erected or altered to be used as a hospital asylum or institution for the care or treatment of persons the height of which exceeds two stories and every building hereafter erected or altered to be used as an apartment-house tenement-house flat-house lodging-house hotel school or police station the height of which exceeds four stories shall be a building of the first class and no building of any kind except as hereafter provided shall be erected or raised to a height exceeding sixty-five feet except the same be a building of the first or second class and no building shall be erected or raised to a height exceeding eighty-five feet except the same be a building of the first class and all buildings of a height exceeding six stories shall be buildings of the first class

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1320, as follows:

An Act to amend section one of an act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and eighty-six) entitled "An act to provide for the health safety and welfare of minors by forbidding their employment or work in certain establishments and occupations and under certain specified ages by restricting their hours of labor and regulating certain conditions of their employment by requiring employment certificates for certain minors and prescribing the kinds thereof and the rules for the issuance reissuance filing return and recording of the same by providing that the Industrial Board shall under certain conditions determine and declare whether certain occupations are within the prohibitions of this act requiring that certain minors shall during the period of their employment attend certain schools to be established as therein provided and to be approved by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and regulating the conditions of such attendance authorizing the State Board of Education in certain cases to appoint attendance officers to aid in enforcing the provisions of this act and creating the salary and expenses of such officers a charge against the school district wherein they are employed requiring certain abstracts and notices to be posted providing for the enforcement of this act by the Commissioner of Labor and Industry the attendance officers of school districts and police officers and defining the procedure in prosecutions thereunder and establishing certain presumptions in relation thereto providing penalties for the violation of the provisions thereof and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith" exempting from the operation of the act minors employed on the stage of theatres with the approval of the Industrial Board of the Department of Labor and Industry

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same. That section one of the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and eighty-six) entitled "An act to provide for the health safety and welfare of minors by forbidding their employment or work in certain establishments and occupations and under certain specified ages by restricting their hours of labor and regulating certain conditions of their employment by requiring employment certificates for certain minors and prescribing the kinds thereof and the rules for the issuance reissuance filing return and recording of the same by providing that the Industrial Board shall under certain conditions determine and declare whether certain occupations are within the prohibitions of this act requiring that certain minors shall during the period of their employment attend certain schools to be established as therein provided and to be approved by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and regulating the conditions of such attendance authorizing the State Board of Education in certain cases to appoint attendance officers to aid in enforcing the provisions of this act and creating the salary and expenses of such officers a charge against the school district wherein they are employed requiring certain abstracts and notices to be posted providing for the enforcement of this act by the Commissioner of Labor and Industry the attendance officers of school districts and police officers and defining the procedure in prosecutions thereunder and establishing certain presumptions in relation thereto providing penalties for the violation of the provisions thereof and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith" which reads as follows

"Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same. That wherever the term 'establishment' is used in this act it shall mean any place within this Commonwealth where work is done for compensation of any kind to whomever payable. Provided That this act shall not apply to children employed on the farm or in domestic service in private homes.

The term 'person' when used in this act shall be construed to include any individual firm partnership unincorporated association corporation or municipality.

The term 'week' when used in this act shall mean any consecutive seven days.

The term 'minor' when used in this act shall mean any person under twenty-one years of age. Wherever the singular is used in this act the plural shall be included and wherever the masculine gender is used the feminine and neuter shall be included" is hereby amended to read as follows

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Golder, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of the bill if he will not give a little explanation so far as the financial part is concerned.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, under the National Defense Act of the United States government, the various National Guards of the different states must be organized along uniform lines. The federal government has given to the various states certain equipment. The State of Pennsylvania gets $14,000,000.00 worth of equipment for her National Guard. The Adjutant General has found it necessary to have officers selected to keep a record and an accounting of all the property that comes to the State and which goes to the various regiments to which it is distributed. The Adjutant General has reorganized his department. The only new positions created are one charwoman at a salary of eight hundred dollars, one charman at a salary of twelve hundred dollars, two laborers at a salary of one thousand dollars each, and one telephone operator at a salary of one thousand dollars. The others have been transferred from one department to the other. It calls for no salary increase for anyone employed in the Adjutant General's department. That department has been very efficient in its work, particularly at Mount Gretna, where they started with three hundred and sixty-five acres and now have about thirty-six hundred acres. During the last two years the department has cut down a lot of timber suffering from the blight, it has also cut down quite a great deal of the other timber and realized from it enough to set up its own sawmill. The Adjutant General was able to cut down the rest of it on that reservation, and out of that has reconstructed roads, reconstructed barracks, reconstructed garages,—without any expense whatever to the Commonwealth. While this department is not self-sustaining, because there are no fees charged, the Adjutant General has realized enough money from the reconstruction of old trucks from other departments and old machinery from the federal government, not only to build roads and garages and barracks, but to have quite a little sum of money on hand.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Golder.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Golder, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman to kindly indicate to the House the nature of the property turned over to the state by the government said to be worth twenty millions of dollars.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, it is the four hundred and some odd motor trucks turned over to the State by the United States government. A great many of these have already been delivered, and they are now stationed in the garages at Mount Gretna. There are, I believe, not sufficient garages for all of them, but I think there are about sixty at Mount Gretna which I saw yesterday. This property also consists of uniforms, guns, revolvers, ammunition, tents and various other articles. I have no idea of the reason for the federal government turning this over to the states, except that under the National Defense Act, the theory of the federal government is to cut down as far as it could the standing army, and to build up a citizen soldiery throughout the United States. It is also the theory that when a man goes into the regular army he becomes a consumer and ceases to be a producer, and all the clothes that he wears and the food that he eats must be produced by others. The idea in building up a large National Guard is that the man who joins it remains a producer and does not become a consumer. He can go along in the daily walks of life, and the government can, within a very short time, call into arms the National Guards of the various states, and I believe they figure that they will have eight hundred thousand men, together with the standing army, when they call upon the citizen soldiery from the various states.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I have endeavored to check up this bill with the positions enumerated in Smull's Handbook, but I am frank to admit that I am at a loss to make them agree. I have but one more question. Is the position on page eight, one division commander at a salary of eight thousand dollars a year, a new position?

Mr. GOLDER. No. Under the act of May 3, 1917, section 21, the Governor of the Commonwealth, as Commander-in-Chief of the army and naval forces, had the right to place officers in certain positions. The officers enumerated on page eight are now being paid by the Commonwealth and have been designated by the Governor for that work, under the authority of the section which I just quoted, section 21, of the Act of May 3, 1917.

Mr. WILLIAMS. At the salaries indicated in this bill?

Mr. GOLDER. Yes. Under section 21, the Governor is authorized to appoint officers for special work, and give them the same salaries that officers of the same rating are paid by the United States government.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Is the gentleman familiar with the amount of the appropriation that will appear in the General Appropriation Bill for this department?

Mr. GOLDER. No, I am not, but I might say for the information of the gentleman, that last year the Adjutant General's Department was, I believe, the only one in which there was no deficiency or which did not come to us this year for a deficiency appropriation. The fact is, there is quite a sum of money left over from the appropriation of last year.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up from the top of page 37 of to-day's calendar, bills on third reading postponed, House Bill No. 1292, File Folio 3717.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Golder.

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1292, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Adjutant General to erect, construct, complete and equip a building on the arsenal grounds at Harrisburg, for use as a garage and machine shop, and to grade and terrace the grounds in connection therewith; providing for the letting of contracts therefor; and making an appropriation.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, when this bill was reached yesterday on the third reading calendar, I was out of the hall of the House. There was some question raised in regard to the appropriation to be used for the construction of this building which the bill authorizes the Adjutant General to erect. I have since then investigated the question raised and I wish to state at this time that the Adjutant General has the machinery and equipment which he could use for this work to "erect, construct, complete and equip a building on on the arsenal grounds for use as a garage and machine shop," and that this work could not be assigned to any other department and that it is policy to digress from the usual method because a great deal of money and time could be saved to the Commonwealth.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Golder, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, there is an appropriation of $30,000 for the purpose of erecting and constructing this garage and machine shop, and my thought was when I had the bill placed on the postponed calendar that there was an appropriation already made, or, rather, that there was in the General Appropriation Bill an appropriation for Public Grounds and Buildings which could be used for this purpose. Am I not correct?

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, there is nothing in the appropriation designated for this garage.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Don't you think that this money to be used for the construction of this building should come out of the General Appropriation fund?

Mr. GOLDER. It is a question of bookkeeping. If you take $30,000 out of the General Appropriation fund you will have to put $30,000 in there—in other words, you would simply put it into the fund to take it out and you would save no money.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Would it cost any more to build the garage?

Mr. GOLDER. The Adjutant General is prepared to use his own equipment and machinery that has been loaned by the government and is in a position to construct this garage and save money to the Commonwealth. To do otherwise it will necessitate getting permission from the United States Government for the transfer of their machinery from the Adjutant General's Department to an independent contractor, who is not in a position with equipment or with machinery and could not go on with it without the co-operation of the Federal government.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I don't think the gentleman from Philadelphia understand my question. While the gentleman says that the Adjutant General has the machinery and equipment to construct this building, is it not peculiar to have any department head put up a building?

Mr. GOLDER. The gentleman asks whether or not it is peculiar. I say this: Here is a condition, under the Adjutant General, who has the machinery and equipment to construct this building economically and with a saving to the Commonwealth and it would be unwise to have any one else do it.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I object to an appropriation being made direct rather than having the fund taken from the General Appropriation fund for Public Grounds and Buildings.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I understand what the idea of the gentleman from Delaware is, and what he believes should be done, but the gentleman from Delaware is wrong sometimes. I know that the Adjutant General is in a position to construct this building and that there will be money saved to the State if he does it.

Mr. ALEXANDER. My objection is not as to the Adjutant General putting up this building so much as that the fund is taken from an appropriation for the purpose and is not taken from the General Appropriation fund. I undersand that there may be economy and a saving of money to the State, but my idea is that we use the appropriation from the General Appropriation fund to Public Grounds and Buildings, because if that General Fund is not used for purposes of this kind it will be used for some other purposes and, therefore, this $30,000 rather than having a separate appropriation for this act, should be taken out of the General Fund appropriated for Public Grounds and Buildings. I object to the Adjutant General doing work and being paid for it out of any other fund, but the General Appropriation fund for Public Grounds and Buildings. We will pay just as much whether it is taken out of the General Fund or whether out of a separate fund. We have no general accounting and we cannot get an accounting to show how this is spent. My contention is that I want the $30,000 to come out of the General Fund rather than out of a separate appropriation.

Mr. GOLDER. Mr. Speaker, I regret to take any more time from the House, but it does seem that the gentleman from Delaware is inconsistent in his position. He objects to that money being turned over because of no accounting and now he insists that it should be taken out of that department. If we take this appropriation away from the Adjutant General and take the General Appropriation fund, it is merely a question of bookkeeping and instead of taking the $30,000 from the private appropriation it is a matter of taking it from the general fund to which an additional $30,000 would have to be appropriated. It is a question of economy in this particular instance to have the Adjutant General construct this building, and it would be unwise not to let the Adjutant General use the equipment and machinery which he has at hand for the construction.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—2.

Dilsheimer, Glass.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. WOLFE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to call up from page 32 of today's calendar, bills on third reading. House Bill No. 1149, (Senate Bill No. 432), entitled:

A supplement to an act approved the twenty-second day of June one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and seventy-nine) "An act to provide for the selection of a site and the erection of a State asylum for the chronic insane to be called the State Asylum for the Chronic Insane of Pennsylvania and making an appropriation therefor" providing for the quarantine and for the reception detention care and treatment at said asylum of persons suffering with syphilis and for their commitment thereto and providing for the payment of the cost of commitment care and maintenance of such persons in the same manner as insane persons

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1233, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act entitled "A supplement to the act entitled 'An act for acknowledging and recording of deeds' passed the eighteenth day of March, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-five (one Smiths Laws, four hundred and twenty-two) as amended; legalizing deeds and conveyances recorded before subsequent deeds, conveyances and mortgages; and validating certain conveyances made under said act.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, but as he is absent from the hall, I move that it be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. COOK. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 559, entitled:

An Act providing for the protection of the health of painters by prohibiting the use of the spray machine for painting

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. LEWIS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I am not surprised at the House refusing to put this bill on the postponed calendar—not a bit. This bill provides for the abolishing of the spray machine where it uses poisonous paints with a machine over a certain pressure. It is a fair health measure, as we see it. Not only does this spray injure the painter but it also is an injury to all those who work in and about the machine. We have here the records of men who have been examined by government officials and who have pronounced that it is an injury to the worker to be around this machine; that the vapor of these machines have poisoned many of the workers and those surrounding it while it is in operation. Tests have been made by thousands and the tests also have been made with guinea pigs and other animals and it is proven absolutely, that it is injurious to the health of those animals. Now, we will hear, perhaps, an argument presented today that it is going to throw out an industry; that the manufacturer, of course, will be injured by the abolishing of this machine. Let us understand one thing: In the past few years we have not considered when it is for the benefit of society; we have had no time for that. Here upon this floor we have considered the loss to the manufacturer. We take, for instance, the Eighteenth Amendment. You did not take into consideration when the Eighteenth Amendment was passed, the loss of those who were engaged in the brewery or saloon business; you did not take into consideration their loss of money. I say to you if that was done for the good of society, you should consider it as an injury, if it is an injury to one, that it is an injury which is the concern of all. Leading physicians have examined men who are working with these machines and have proven absolutely that they have lost their lives and become useless in the industry after operating a machine three or four years. It does not abolish the machines used for the manufacture of furniture where it permits a certain pound pressure. If it is fair to society, if it is a safeguard to society to abolish 2.75 per cent., then I say to you that this is more injurious to the health of the worker than ever 2.75 good beverage was. Now let me say this to you, you may say that this is no concern of yours, that the industry should govern its own works, but I say it is the concern of the members of this House to protect the life and health of every workman in the State of Pennsylvania, and we should not inject anything into industry that will injure the lives and imperil the lives of the industrial soldiers of this State. Some men have said to me in this House that this was of no concern to the House of Representatives. I wonder what that gentleman would say if he was walking on the street today and saw a big brute of a man clubbing to death a little child about seven years of age. Would you say then that was no concern of yours? I say you would not. If you were standing at the brink of a lake or river and you saw there a woman dashed into the waves, and you saw a woman in those waves screaming for help, and you saw standing there an able-bodied swimmer, a muscular man standing there and he said that is no concern of mine, she is not my daughter, she is not my wife, let her drown; would you say that was no concern of yours. I say to you that it is the concern of all when we can prove by statistics of the leading physicians of the United States government that it was an injury to the health of the painters. I say to you that proper restrictions should be brought about by the health department and others interested to see that the health and safety of these workers is protected. All the laws that were ever asked for in this House were for the safety of our employees. I hope you will vote "aye" on this very meritorious measure.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, since paint has been used as a preservative, there has been painter's cholic and lead poisoning, so that we all know and we all realize that there has been some danger from the use of paint ever since paint was discovered. We also realize that in all industrial lines we have made tremendous strides of progress in recent years, and no greater strides have been made along any line than have been made along the line of the application of paint. That was particularly true during the last dozen years, in fact, during the war. The application of paint by a spray gun operated by compressed air, the pressure necessary being about forty or fifty pounds is a tremendous step in advance in the application of that preservative. It has been well said that in the beginning the application of paint was an art; later it was a trick, and today it is a science. Now let us see what safeguards have already been thrown around the worker particularly from this point of view. As you gentlemen all know, in order to properly apply paint a certain temperature must be maintained; you also know any one of you who have ever gone into a paintshop, for instance wagon works, automobile works or anything of that kind, that in order to maintain that temperature under the old system, the crevices of that room were closely guarded, and the room was kept very tight. Now because the paint was applied with the brush, does not mean that there were not poisonous fumes emitted from that operation. There were and there was no means of escape. The painter stood right in that atmosphere during the working hours of the day and he breathed those fumes more or less laden with the poison emanating from the paint.

I will read to you from the Act of May 2nd, 1905, Labor Laws of Pennsylvania: "Exhaust fans of sufficient power or other sufficient devices shall be provided for the purpose of carrying off poison fumes and gas and dust from emory wheels, grindstones and other machinery creating dust." It would be just as reasonable to say, in fact, it would be more reasonable to say that the operation of polishing, that the operation of buffing, should be done by hand rubbing as it was done once upon a time instead of by the operation of these rapidly whirling polishing wheels, because it is far more difficult to carry off the dust, and the dust of the emory wheels is far more deadly, than it is to carry off the fumes from the paint that is applied by means of the spray gun. The method of applying paint by means of the spray gun, and you can readily see that the Department of Labor and Industry has the power under the law now to compel this method to be used and abided by, is that they create a structure very similar to an old Conestoga wagon. I presume we all know what a Conestoga wagon is like. It has a long canvas top open at one end. The other end is closed except for several openings, in which exhause fans are kept in operation so that a continual current of air enters the enclosure at the one end and escapes from the enclosure by means of the fans at the other, and the painter stands at the end of the enclosure that is open with fresh air continually passing over him, carrying along any fumes what are emitted into the air out of the enclosure at the other end. The Department of Labor and Industry has the power under existing law to compel these contrivances and that sort of equipment to be supplied. I may say to you that in order to use paint by the spray system fifteen pounds is not adequate. You can apply lime with fifteen pounds pressure, but you cannot apply paint with fifteen pounds pressure, it requires from forty to fifty pounds. Now the gentleman from Lackawanna made the statement that if you saw a lady on the brink of the river being pushed overboard and she was crying for help would you consider that your business; or if you saw a great giant out here on the street with a club striking down a little child would you consider that your business? My answer to the gentleman from Lackawanna is this: The gentlemen who are using spray guns to apply paint are not crying for help. To substantiate that statement I will read you a few letters. Here is one addressed to the attention of J. H. Miller, Supt., subject, painting. It is signed by Thomas H. Diehl, 644 North Eighth street, Allentown, Pa. It says, "Painted fifty years. In my experience I found the fumes are hardly noticeable in a room equipped with a spray hood." Here is another from Oliver Freas, Rural Route No. 3, Bethlehem. "Experience, forty-four years in painting. Found a room furnished with a spray hood is healthier than brush painting because the fumes are not so heavy." I have also one from Howard Seif, Emaus, which says, "Have been spraying for International Motor Co. for three years, and for Yeager Furniture Factory, five years. I would rather work in a spray hood than in a closed room, as the fumes are carried away with exhaust fans."

These are the men who are experienced in the application of paint, men of years of experience, and I say to the gentleman from Lackawanna that they are not crying for protection from this method of applying paint. I have another letter from W. F. Minnich, 623 North Ninth street, Altoona, Pa., which says, "Have been painting thirty-two years, and my experience in painting is that fumes in a spray hood are not so noticeable as in a closed room." Here is a letter from Martin Kuhns, of Trexlertown, which says, "Have painted for nine years for the International Motor Co. and four years for Frank Desh. My opinion is that spraying is healthier than brush painting on account of the fumes being carried outside with exhaust fans. When brush coating, there is no ventilation and fumes cannot escape. It has happened that men could work half a day on account of fumes in a closed room." I am sure all of us have had the experience of having gone into a closed room paint shop. I have walked into these rooms in hot weather and it has almost choked me. If the room is ventilated at the end, and there is a current of air in the room, first over the operator and then out the other side, it certainly lessens the danger. I believe that we will have cases of lead poisoning as long as paint is used. There always has been and always will be cases of painter's cholic. From a standpoint of absorption, the man who uses the brush to paint will always get paint on his hands. He cannot wear gloves, because it does not facilitate the movement of the brush, with the brush he cannot use gloves because it interferes with the operation, so with the use of the spray from the viewpoint of absorption, there is less danger.

Now as to the cost and effectiveness of it,—a three-ton truck can be painted by an operator, with short experience, with the spray gun, in about one hour, whereas it is a large day's work for one man to paint a truck of the same size with a brush.

Now what do the departments say with reference to it? Dr. Martin, of the Department of Health, was consulted on this question, and he authorized the statement to be made, "I have no interest in the bill." Do you presume if he regarded this bill in the light as was stated by the gentleman from Lackawanna, of a woman standing on the bank of the Susquehanna and a big brute of a man pushing her overboard, do you think he would have made that statement? Dean Connelly was asked what his department thought of it, and he said, "The bill ought not to be passed."

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the woman I used was not on the banks of the Susquehanna, but out in the middle of the water.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, I beg the gentleman's pardon, I anticipated what had happened before. So then it is just as reasonable for you gentlemen to say that the threshing machine ought to be prohibited because of the fact that a great deal more dust is raised than was created when the grain was trampled by the hoofs of the horses. It is just as reasonable to say that a man ought to resort to polishing metal by rubbing, instead of using the emory wheel, at a high rate of speed, because more dust is created. I trust, gentlemen of the House, that you will vote down this bill.

Mr. SMINK. Mr. Speaker, I think this bill should be absolutely considered from the standpoint of protection of the health of the men involved in that employment. I realize along with the gentleman from Lancaster, that there is danger also to men employed in the polishing of metals and the use of the emory wheels and I would be just as enthusiastic in defending a measure protecting that as I am to help the painter. As far as the statement of Dr. Martin is concerned, I feel that it can be used in favor of this bill as well as against it. He simply takes a neutral stand. We cannot argue from the standpoint of profits, vs. human life. It is a fact that the spraying machine does make painting a little cheaper, but I submit to you that we should consider the other side of the question and not the one of time saved. As far as authorities are concerned, we can produce as many and possibly more than the other side. In a reply from the Labor Sanitation Conference of New York city, appointed by the Governor, we have this statement: "When one comes to the introduction of the spray machine, one finds that the ordinary hazards of poisoning are many times multiplied. The painters' protection under normal conditions is difficult enough. It is practically impossible when the painter is required to use the spray painting machine.

"The labor sanitation conference at its meeting on May 21, 1918, protested against the use of the sprayer machine, saying among other things, 'We feel that a recognition of this danger and an effort to prevent it will help conserve the man-power so urgently needed to serve our country during the war.'" I also want to call your attention to no less authority than the Surgeon General of the United States in which he states that it is impossible to protect the workers from poisonous fumes and gases from open spraying machines used on large surfaces, and that such devices are absolutely dangerous. That statement was attached to Senate Bill No. 80, State of New Jersey, introduced February 2, 1921, from the Surgeon General of the United States army. I have several communications, signed by reputable physicians from the city of Philadelphia who have made a careful study of this spraying machine and the use of the brush and the use of the gun, and they found that the man using the gun was affected in fifty per cent. more cases than the man using the brush. There are court decisions. I have one from our own court, the circuit court of Allegheny county, where the court rendered judgment for the employee. The case was appealed and judgment was affirmed. This case is the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company vs. Bransom. Bransom brought action under the Federal Employers' Liability Act for damages for injuries suffered by him while in its employ as a painter. The gist of the complaint was that he worked for several months painting engines used in the inter-state commerce with a machine know as a gun, by which painting materials were applied in the form of a spray or mist, which enveloped the operator; that he did not know the dilatorious nature of this mist, but that the company did, and should have provided an appliance to protect him from breathing the same; and that on or about the sixth of September, 1913, by reason of this poisoning, he became sick and was incapacitated. The circuit court of Allegheny county rendered judgment for the employee, and on appeal, this was affirmed. Judge Burke delivered the opinion and I have the opinion here if you care to see it. I simply want to bring to your attention to the fact that there is high authority through the State and nation that this machine is dangerous. We have amended the bill in order that the smaller machines which are essential posibly for the painting of chairs and for cabinet workers where the painter can be protected by certain plans, have been exempted by this bill, but where the painting is on a large surface, in the sky scrapers and elsewhere, it is absolutely detrimental to the men using the machine and to men who are within inhaling distance. If I were to take you to a structure now being built in Philadelphia into which I have gone, I could show you the conditions. I assure you that almost every one of you would agree with me that it is injurious. When you enter that room there is a yellow mist that you can see from one side of the room to the other. While I was there possibly less than five minutes I found it was almost impossible to breathe properly. I will admit that I am not used to it and it may have had a greater effect on me. I submit that this is a very important measure. It is a measure for the protection of health, and while our own Dr. Martin has not seen fit to speak either for or against the bill, I submit to you the opinion of the Surgeon General of the United States.

Mr. HARER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smink, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SMINK. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. HARER. You are interested in the health of the people who are using these machines?

Mr. SMINK. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. HARER. How are they injured?

Mr. SMINK. Those who are within a radius that permits them to inhale the fumes are injured.

Mr. HARER. Are you aware of the fact that the material used in spraying trees is of a poisonous nature?

Mr. SMINK. I cannot say, Mr. Speaker, but I believe the agricultural interests have been exempt because the work of spraying trees is done in the open air and it is less injurious.

Mr. HARER. Why do you exempt those people who paint chairs?

Mr. SMINK. I will refer you to the sponsor of the bill.

Mr. HARER. I take it from your remarks that you are familiar with the matter and can answer the question.

Mr. SMINK. I think that question should be directed to the sponsor of the bill.

Mr. WOLFE. Mr. Speaker, there are a number of spraying machines used in different manufacturer's establishments, and as to their being detrimental to health I wish to present to you a petition and letters that have been sent to me:

The following is from the Mifflinburg Body Company:

Mifflinburg, Pa., February 22, 1921.

Hon. Samuel B. Wolfe, Lewisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir: We are advised that a bill has been introduced into the Legislature, which prohibits the use of spraying machines for the application of paint.

May we ask, and strongly urge, that you use what influence you can against this bill.

We have three of these machines in use in this factory. Without them, our production would be reduced in our paint shop at least forty per cent. This would necessitate an entire change of production in our factory, whose facilities are all too meagre.

For your further information, we have been using spraying machines for three years and have the first case yet of a man to quit work on account of any injury of any type to his health.

We are inclined to believe that this is a propaganda of the House Painter's Trade, and it refers chiefly to outside work.

For the life of us, we cannot see why any person would object to anything so progressive as is the spraying machine.

It is not often that we make any request for any assistance along above lines but in this instance we trust you will give us your heartiest co-operation in the defeat of this bill.

Thanking you in advance, we remain

Yours very truly,
The Mifflinburg Body Co.
R. S. GUTELIUS,
President.

March 29, 1921.

Hon. Samuel B. Wolfe, House of Representatives, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Sir: We are writing you concerning House Bill No. 559, prohibiting the use of spraying machines for painting, et cetera. We also enclose a petition signed by our spraying machine operators, which will speak for itself, and we earnestly protest against the passage of this bill, for, in the light of present industrial circumstances, it would be a step backwards, increasing cost of production and being of no advantage.

For your information might state that a year ago a bill of the same nature was introduced in California, New York and New Jersey, which was unanimously defeated.

Very respectfully,
Josiah Partridge & Sons Co., Inc.
C. J. EISENHOWER,
General Manager.

To Hon. Samuel B. Wolfe, Representing Union County, House of Representatives, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Relative to House Bill 559, introduced by Mr. Fowler, and prohibiting the use of spraying machines, we respectfully submit:

1. That we are employes of the Lewisburg Chair Company and are operating spraying machines in the plant of the said Lewisburg Chair Company, at Lewisburg, Pennsylvania.

2. That we do not consider the use of these machines dangerous to the health of the employes operating the same, and consider that it would be a step backward to prohibit the use of the machines and again resort to hand finishing.

We, therefore, protest against the passage of said bill and respectfully ask you and your colleagues in the House to vote against the passage of said bill and use your influence in that direction.

IRWIN WAGNER, Lewisburg, Pa.
M. MUSSER, Lewisburg, Pa.
CLOYD F. ERDLEY, Lewisburg, Pa.
J. FRANK GORDON, Lewisburg, Pa.
R. J. ANDERSON, Lewisburg, Pa.

Here is a letter from the Lewisburg Chair Company:

April 11, 1921.

The signatures to this petition are the men who operate our spraying machines, and it is our opinion and our experience that using the spraying machines for spraying on our paint is not as injurious as the old method of applying paint by brush. The material that we use on our sprays contains practically no lead and the way our spraying machines are equipped with automatic fans and ventilators the fumes arising from the paint are carried off through these fans by a suction of air created by the constantly moving automatic motors that operate our fans. In fact it is our opinion that the whole entire painting department is benefited by the use of these spraying machines, due to the fact that these ventilators and fans operated by motors are eliminating constantly any fumes existing in our paint department. In other words taking out the foul air and bringing in the pure air.

CLYDE C. CARTER,
LAWRENCE W. TAMO.

The Mifflinburg Body Co., Mifflinburg, Pa.

It occurs to me that the men operating the machines are better able to determine whether it is detrimental to their health or not. In behalf of those gentlemen I ask you to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. FOWLER. Mr. Speaker, I could read letters to you for a week from all sources who are opposed to these machines and who claim that they are detrimental to health. I have heard so many petitions read in this House and so many letters from employes that I don't pay much attention to the many more. If the gentleman from Lancaster would go back to his own county or if I would go back into my county we would be able to find enough men to sign petitions to hang the both of us. I have been in industries and I know that it is an easy matter for the captains of industry to circulate petitions and to have petitions signed. Throughout the State we find no difficulty in finding men to sign petitions. I do not say that all employers would take unfair advantage, but I say to you that I pay very little attention to a petition that is signed by the employes of a factory. I can produce petitions from a million of workers of this country, but I don't want to bore you with the reading of letters. I realize how useless it is to read letters of this kind. As a matter of fact, any one can write a letter. Let us have a vote on this bill. I ask the members of the House to vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. HALDEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following members:

Messrs. Thomas R. Brown, Chas. P. Dewey, Hagerty, D. I. Miller, Albert Millar, Pike, Baldi, McCarthy, H. Smith, Brooks, Cook, Glass, Edmonds, Krause, Ehrhardt, Blumberg, Phillips, Sowers, Joseph Marcus, Harry, and Long.

More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question,

On the question,

Shall the main question be put?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILLS SIGNED BY THE SPEAKER.

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

Senate Bill No. 58.

A Supplement to an act entitled, "An Act authorizing the formation of partnership associations in which the capital subscribed shall alone be responsible for the debts of the association except under certain circumstances," approved the second day of June, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (P. L. 271); granting to partnership associations formed under such act for the purpose of transportation and storage of oil, by means of pipe lines and tanks, for the public, power to take lands or property for the public purposes of such association and to acquire a right of way easement for the purpose of locating its pipes or branches, over, upon, under or across any lands, streams, rivulets, roads, turnpike-roads, railroads, canals or other highways.

Senate Bill No. 150.

An Act providing for a commission to make an examination of the Institution of the Society for the Prevention and Cure of Consumption of the city of Scranton popularly known as the West Mountain Sanatorium providing for a transfer of said institution under certain conditions to the Commonwealth regulating such institution in the event of such transfer and making an appropriation

Senate Bill No. 293.

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to section one (1) of article fifteen (XV) of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Senate Bill No. 298.

An Act providing that in computing the indebtedness of cities of the first class the word "indebtedness" shall include all manner of debt and the net amount thereof shall be ascertained as in the case of other municipal corporations by deducting from the gross amount thereof the moneys in the treasury all outstanding solvent debts and all revenues applicable within one year to the payment of the same

Senate Bill No. 310.

An Act to amend section eight of an act approved the seventeenth day of February one thousand nine hundred and six (Pamphlet Laws forty-five) entitled "An act to regulate the deposits of State funds to prescribe the method of selecting State depositories to limit the amount of State deposits to provide for the security of such deposits to fix the rate of interest thereon to provide for the publication of monthly statements of moneys in the general and sinking funds to declare it a misdemeanor to give or take anything of value for obtaining the same and prescribing penalties for violations of this act" as amended providing for additional active depositories

Senate Bill No. 318.

An Act to establish the pay mileage and contingent expenses of Presidential Electors

Senate Bill No. 338.

An Act to amend an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by adding to article twenty thereof section two thousand forty

Senate Bill No. 350.

An Act to amend section six chapter one article one of an act approved the fourteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and twelve) entitled "An act providing a system of government for boroughs and revising amending and consolidating the law relating to boroughs" as amended.

Senate Bill No. 427.

An Act providing for rebates and penalties in the payment of county taxes in cities of the third class

Senate Bill No. 446.

An Act to amend sections ten and twenty-two of an act approved the twenty-ninth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws six hundred and fifty-seven) entitled "An act to provide for the protection of agriculture and horticulture and to prevent the introduction into and the dissemination within the Commonwealth of insect and disease pests injurious or harmful to plants or plant products providing for inspection of nurseries providing for quarantines necessary to the enforcement of this act and imposing penalties"

House Bill No. 199.

An Act to amend section one of an act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred seventy-three) entitled "An act to provide for retirement of State employes permanently disqualified by reason of physical or mental disability to perform their official functions and duties with half pay under certain conditions during the remainder of their lives except State employes whose retirement has been or shall be otherwise provided for and the filling of vacancies caused by such retirement" as amended by changing the conditions under which said employes can be retired and the procedure therein changing the pension period and defining the term "State employe" to include officers and employes in the legislative and executive branches of the State government and of State institutions

Section 28 All other acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Roman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ROMAN. Yes sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, has an estimate been made as to the cost of putting this bill in operation or as to the number of inspectors required?

Mr. ROMAN. The cost of putting this bill into operation will be eighty thousand dollars.

Mr. EDMONDS. Then why does not the bill limit the bill to eighty thousand dollars?

Mr. ROMAN. It does limit the cost to eighty thousand dollars.

Mr. EDMONDS. No, the bill reads "The Commissioner of Health shall, with the consent of the Governor, appoint as many traveling inspectors as he deems necessary for the proper carrying out of the provisions of this act. Such hotel inspectors shall each receive annual salaries not to exceed two thousand five hundred dollars and necessary traveling expenses." Now is there anything in the bill which limits the total cost?

Mr. ROMAN. I think not. No I don't think so.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, then it seems to me that this bill is not in the form that it should be to receive the consideration of this House. It proposes a new system of inspection of hotels and restaurants and it may be and probably is a very worthy plan of inspection, but it does seem to me that a bill which authorizes inspectors at twenty-five hundred dollars a year and traveling expenses without a definite amount is poor legislation and legislation for which the members of this House may very justly be condemned. In its present form I shall be obliged to vote against the bill because there is no limitation upon the cost and it might cost the Department two, three, four or five hundred thousand dollars and then the Legislature would be blamed for careless legislation.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. ROMAN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. GIBBON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The Speaker declared the "nays" appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for and fifty-nine gentlemen voting in the affirmative and forty-six in the affirmative the question was determined in the affirmative, and the motion was agreed to.

BILLS SIGNED BY THE SPEAKER.

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

Senate Bill No. 198.

An Act to further amend section fourteen an act approved the twelfth day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and nineteen) entitled "An act regulating certain political parties providing for and regulating the nomination of candidates of such political parties for certain public offices the election of delegates and alternate delegates to national party conventions and of certain party officers including State committeemen a method whereby electors of such political parties may express their choice of candidates for the office of President of the United States and the payment by the several counties and their reimbursement by the State of the expenses of the same authorizing the State committee of a political party to make and to alter amend and revoke rules and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act and for the punishment of certain offenses provided for herein and repealing inconsistent legislation" as amended

Senate Bill No. 456.

An Act authorizing the council of cities of the third class whenever any city of such class shall have sold or leased the coal underlying any public park or common within the limits of said city to apply the proceeds thereof for certain improvements of such park or common and the policing and lighting thereof for the purchase of certain lands for park purposes and for other public improvements and providing for the issuing of improvement bonds for such purposes

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

RECESS.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection, the Chair will declare a recess until 4.30 o'clock for the purpose of receiving reports from the Appropriations Committee only.

Mr. WHITAKER. Is it understood then that there will be no session tomorrow in that case.

The SPEAKER. That is the understanding. When we adjourn this evening, we adjourn for the week.

The SPEAKER declared a recess until 4.30 o'clock P. M.

AFTER RECESS.

The House reconvened at 4.30 P. M.

The SPEAKER (Robert S. Spangler), in the Chair.
